Kennedy Sworn In, Asks Quest For World Peace

Asserts U.S. Will Pay Any Price For Liberty

WASHINGTON (AP)—A deadly serious John F. Kennedy became president today in deadly serious times with an eloquent plea for the Communists to join him in a quest for peace lest all humanity be destroyed.

At the cold, windswept, snowcovered capitol the old order left and the new came in.

Kennedy, at 43, the youngest elected president in U.S. history, took the oath as the nation's 35th chief executive from Chief Justice Earl Warren at 12:51 p.m.

The simple, impressive ceremony took but a moment, and Kennedy immediately plunged into the world problems that will occupy most of his thought during the next four years.

The president began his inaugural address with a vow that this nation would remain strong.

"Let every nation know," he said, "whether it wish us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend or oppose any foe in order to assure the survival and success of liberty."

He never mentioned the Communists by name when he said:

"To those nations who would make themselves our adversary, we offer not a pledge but a request: that both sides begin anew the quest for peace, before the dark powers of destruction unleashed by science engulf all humanity in planned or accidental self-destruction."

Nearly all the notables in the nation were here—governors, senators, representatives, Supreme Court justices. A few, including former President Herbert Hoover, were kept away by last night's snowstorm.

But ex-President Harry S. Truman was on the inaugural stand, beaming to see a Democrat take over the White House again after eight years of Republican, rule.

And Dwight D. Eisenhower, at 70, the oldest president in U.S. history, listened quietly as his youthful successor confidently said:

"Let the world go forth from this time and place, to friend and foe alike, that the torch has been passed to a new generation of Americans—born in this century, tempered by war, disciplined by a cold and bitter peace, proud of our ancient heritage—and unwilling to witness or permit the slow undoing of those human rights to which this nation has always been committeed, and to which we are committed today."

Eighty-six-year-old poet Robert Frost added to the moving moments of the ceremonies by reciting a poem from memory. As he stepped to the lectern a strong wind disarranged his papers, and he gave up his plan to read it.

There was no immediate explanation, but Kennedy, who had arrived at the Capitol early, did not come on to the inaugural stand until 12:12 p.m. or 12 minutes late.

Even then the program was not ready to begin, and there was considerable milling about on the platform.

Eisenhower and Kennedy didn't seem to mind. They chatted amiably and at times energetically.

There were the prayers from leaders of four faiths, Roman Catholic, Protestant, Jewish and Greek Orthodox.

There was the stirring, martial music, the singing, and, curiously, there even was comedy. At the most inappropriate moment, during the invocation by Archbishop Richard Cardinal Cushing, smoke poured from the lectern. Whatever the origin of the fire, it was quickly extinguished. Cardinal Cushing was undisturbed. A flitting smile crossed even Kennedy's face.

Finally, the point of all these proceedings, was at hand, taking the oaths.

Lyndon B. Johnson's turn came first. The tall Texan, who had such high hopes of being president him, was sworn in as vice president by his old friend, fellow Texan and political coach, House Speaker Sam Rayburn at 12:41 p.m.

Kennedy slipped out of a topcoat protecting him against the 22-degree weather and stepped forward.

Facing Chief Justice Warren, and speaking in a loud, clear voice, he repeated his oath to uphold the constitution.

When he finished the oath, he turned to now ex-President Eisenhower and smiled broadly. Eisenhower smiled back and they shook hands.

Kennedy delivered his speech with the finger-pointing, hand-chopping gestures which became so familiar during the political campaign.

"I do not shrink from this responsibility — I welcome it," he said.

Eisenhower joined in the applause. Once was when Kennedy declared that this hemisphere shall be the master of its own house.

On these great occasions the public man has his private cheering section. And few presidents have had such a large and enthusiastic family to back him.

Here were the proud parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy. Here were the brothers, the sister, the close friends

Kennedy Gets Big Ovation In Parade

COMBINED UPI & AP

WASHINGTON — President John F. Kennedy received a roaring ovation today as he made the historic journey down Pennsylvania Avenue to the White House in the vanguard of his inaugural parade.

Kennedy and his 31-year-old wife, Jacqueline, rode together in the open-topped presidential limousine which was made famous by his predecessor, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The new chief executive was hatless as he responded to the cheers of the gay and friendly crowd which thronged eight and 10 deep along the parade route.

Military honor guards along the avenue gave the 43-year-old new president salutes which now are his due as the nation's commander-in-chief.

To protect the Kennedys against the cold weather that marked his inaugural, the limousine was equipped with blankets and heaters on the floor. It was flanked by Secret Service agents.

Amassed for the parade spectacle was a dazzling display of U.S. military power. There were also bathing beauties who switched from their usual bathing suits and shorts into warmer togs in deference to the cold.

Twenty-degree cold and an eight-inch snow failed to dampen spirits of the crowd.

Hundreds of snowplows and 3,000 men working through the night succeeded today in clearing the parade route.

MERCURY DIPS; MORE CHILLY WEATHER SEEN

Much of Marin County was covered by a blanket of frost this morning and the Weather Man said more of the nippy weather can be expected tomorrow.

Tamalpais Valley was the area coldspot with a subfreezing low of 29 degrees. Woodacre was right behind with a chilly 30.

Novato and the Chevy Chase area of Larkspur had morning lows of 32 and San Rafael's city hall thermometer dipped to 34.

Marin Civic Leader Henry Greer Dies

Henry E. Greer, who came to Marin in 1898 in response to a telegram and remained to become San Rafael city attorney, district attorney and county superintendent of schools, died last evening in a local hospital.

Greer, who was 87, had been in the hospital since Dec. 22 suffering from a heart ailment. His home is at 312 H Street, San Rafael.

He was 24 years old when he came here to become bursar and teacher of commercial courses at Mount Tamalpais Military Academy, forerunner of San Rafael Military Academy.

While teaching, he studied law with attorneys E. B. Martinelli (father of Jordan L. Martinelli, who retired recently as superior court judge). In 1910, he was admitted to the bar. Three years later, he formed a law partnership with his former mentor, Martinelli.

Greer won his first election in 1914, when he was named San Rafael city attorney, succeeding Edward I. Butler in the job.

He served as a Red Cross officer with the Army in World War I, being stationed at a 29th Division field hospital at Verdun as a first lieutenant.

On returning from the war, he was appointed district attorney—again succeeding Butler, who had been elevated to the superior court bench. He served 15 years as Marin's district attorney, during most of which prohibition cases made up a major share of prosecutions.

In 1935, running for a fourth term as district attorney, Greer was defeated by A. E. Bagshaw.

Three years later, he was elected county superintendent of schools. He served 12 years in that position, retiring in 1951. During his time as county superintendent, he initiated the first class for handicapped children and the first audio-visual program—the latter with a projector he had to operate himself.

Greer was born on a farm near Rushville, Ill., Dec. 29, 1873. He became a rural school teacher in Illinois at the age of 19, and at 21 came to California "for the health-

Manager Quits San Rafael Chamber Post

Resignation of Richard L. Shirley as secretary-manager of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce was accepted by the board of directors at a special meeting today.

Shirley asked that the resignation be effective Jan. 31. He said he is returning to the field of private enterprise.

Jordan L. Martinelli Jr., chamber president, said, "We have nobody in mind to succeed Mr. Shirley, but the chamber will receive and review applications."

Shirley has been chamber manager here since July, 1956. He succeeded Stanley G. Lowry in the job.

He and his wife, Hortense, have been active in Little Theater work while in Marin. Shirley has directed and his wife has appeared in several productions of the Terra Linda Community Theater. Their home is at 570 Pinewood Drive, Marinwood.

3rd WOMAN TESTIFIES

Jury Indicts Suspect In Illegal Operations

A third woman appeared before the Marin County Grand Jury last night to add her story to the mounting abortion charges against a Belvedere grandmother.

The grand jury indicted Mrs. Anita Venza, 54, of 140 Bayview Avenue on three counts of illegal abortion. Bail was raised from $5,000 to $10,000. She is scheduled to be arraigned in Marin Superior Court Monday morning.

Mrs. Venza, twice convicted of abortion in 1950 and 1955, is now accused of performing illegal surgery at her Belvedere home last year on three women for $400 each.

Dist. Atty. Roger P. Garety presented a surprise witness last night, the third woman, who lives in San Francisco. She said she went to Mrs. Venza's home for an operation about last July 22.

A San Rafael divorcee said she was aborted last Sept. 12, and a woman from San Jose testified she had a similar operation last Oct. 21. The San Jose woman has since been hospitalized with complications.

Mrs. Venza, who freely admits she did wrong in Sonoma County, insists she is innocent this time. She asserts that this is a frameup by a San Rafael man who tried to extort $4,000 from her last December.

Grand Jury May Probe Center Row

Marin County Grand jurors last night decided to look into the civic center uproar of last week when construction was halted and then resumed by the county supervisors.

Foreman William L. Hughes said the grand jury received a pile of letters asking for an investigation of the civic center matter. He turned the case over to a committee headed by Fred S. Allen of Ross for a report at the next meeting, set for 7:30 p.m. Feb. 2 in the courthouse.

Allen said today he had not had time to read the letters yet, and he does not know what points will be covered in the investigation.

KTIM Given Approval For FM Radio Station

Station manager Hugh Turner said the new station, duplicating KTIM's regular daytime programs and staying on the air until 10 or 10:30 p.m., will go into operation within 90 days.

KTIM was allotted a frequency of 100.9 megacycles for FM transmission, Turner said this "will put us right in the middle of the FM dial."

A transmitter site has not yet been selected, Turner said. Because FM doesn't go over a horizon, a high hilltop is being sought to provide the widest possible coverage.

A whole new 900-watt FM transmitter must be acquired and it will be necessary to replace present control room equipment, Turner said.

FM has superior audio capabilities as well as being static-proof.

Specialization on Marin County will not only continue but be accentuated, according to Turner. He said he hoped to provide an outlet for little theater and other cultural groups and to set up an evening hour called "This Is Marin" which will highlight, through tape recording, popular daytime programs such as the "Marin Sounding Board" and Turner's San Rafael street corner noontime interviews.

"We want to be guided a great deal by listener action," said Turner.

"Frankly we don't yet know how many FM listeners there are, or just how our obviously useful combination of daytime AM and full-time FM will work out. We intend to provide lots of good music but there are already many stations specializing on music and our job is likely to be Marin specialization as usual."

Turner is no green hand at FM. Fifteen years ago he helped set up KWBR-FM in San

Four Die, 102 Escape In Jet Crash

MEXICAN AIRLINER CRASHES — Firemen and other rescue workers search burned wreckage of Aeronaves de Mexico airliner which crashed on takeoff last night from New York's Idlewild Airport. Door opening of the DC-8B is at center. Four persons died out of a total passenger and crew list of 106. (AP Wirephoto)

Hits During Takeoff In N. Y. Storm

NEW YORK (AP) — A jet airliner crashed last night seconds after taking off in a wind-whipped snowstorm. The huge ship's speed sent it slamming across a highway, clipping an auto and skidding in flames into a marsh.

Of the 106 persons reported aboard, 102 escaped death, although at least 26 were injured, several critically.

FOUR OF CREW

The dead tentatively were identified as four of the eight crew members—three men and the woman purser. Sixty-one of the 98 passengers aboard the four-engine airliner are residents of the United States.

Efforts of aviation officials to start an investigation at the crash scene were severely handicapped as the heavy snowfall continued today. Scattered bits of wreckage were picked up but concentrated efforts were impossible.

The airliner, a DC-8B of Aeronaves de Mexico, went down at 8:25 p.m. It was bound nonstop for Mexico City.

50 FEET UP

One survivor, G. Terry Sechrist of Farmington, Conn., said the plane got about 50 feet in the air, then skimmed down. Other survivors weren't certain if the plane ever got off the ground.

Idlewild Airport observers said the five-million-dollar craft had to get aloft to clear a concrete fence at the end of the runway. The plane did hit a fire fence just beyond the concrete barrier. Sections of the wire fence were enmeshed in the wreckage. The front section of the plane became enveloped in flames.

When the plane finally halted, passengers leaped through exit doors and smashed windows and fled in all directions in the subfreezing temperature.

MANY PICKED UP

Many were picked up by passing motorists and driven back to the airport or taken to hospitals.

The DC-8B is the same type plane involved in the crash last month over Staten Island, killing 134 persons in history's worst commercial aviation disaster.

Cuba Executes Two; Withdraws Defenses

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's firing squads executed two more Cubans today. His regime began dismantling some of its defenses after 20 hectic days of alert against the invasion that never came.

The two men were executed at Havana's La Cubana prison. Their names were not announced immediately.

They and six others were sentenced to die yesterday after conviction on charges of terrorism and sabotage. The newspaper Revolucion said the sentences of two of the men, convicted of killing militiamen, were reduced to 30 years imprisonment. Authorities were silent on the fate of the other four. Seven other defendants were given 30-year sentences.

Castro scheduled a speech this afternoon to welcome home some of the civilian militiamen being demobilized as the government pulled in its anti-invasion horns. It was assumed he would repeat his claim of last week that only the 20-day alert and the arms given him by the Communist bloc prevented the invasion he had said the Eisenhower administration would order before it left office.

The estimated 200,000 mobilized militiamen began taking down protective sandbags stacked around government buildings, and removing anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns.

Pastor Held For Burning Own Church

SAN JOSE (UPI)—A Baptist pastor was held on an arson charge today for setting fire to his own church and another in Fontana.

Authorities said Rev. L. R. Rhoads, 45, signed the confession Wednesday night in San Francisco after a lie detector test showed he was not telling the truth about a $100,000 fire which destroyed the First Baptist Church of Palo Alto.

The minister said in his confession he went into his empty church on the night of Dec. 13 and set the fire "for reasons I cannot now account for."

Police said he also admitted setting a $40,000 fire in the First Southern Baptist Church in Fontana on Nov. 16, 1956.

Rhoads was arrested at his Palo Alto home yesterday and taken to Santa Clara County Jail, where he was booked on an arson charge.

JOHN HARRISON FARMER

Didn't Like Reds, Suspect Killer Says

BERKELEY (AP) — "I wanted to get someone associated with communism . . . people told me he was a Communist . . ."

So, John Harrison Farmer, 34-year-old one-time religious student told police, he shot away part of the jaw of English Prof. Thomas F. Parkinson, 40, in his campus office with a sawed-off shotgun Wednesday.

And, he confessed further to Berkeley police, he was sorry he shot and killed Stephen Mann Thomas, 29, a graduate student from Ukiah.

Parkinson was reported in fair condition in Perlata Hospital.

Farmer, grimy and his red hair tousled from a night in the woods back of the University of California, where the shooting took place, was apprehended early yesterday walking along a lonely road behind the campus.

Officer A. W. Perrin found him carrying a rifle and leading a small dog.

"God told me to," said Farmer, and explained his reason for trying to kill Parkinson.

He led officers to a thicket where he had thrown away the sawed-off shotgun he used in the shooting.

In a statement to Deputy Dist. Atty. Thomas Buckley, Farmer said he took an English course from Parkinson. "He wrote a magazine article. People told me he was a Communist."

School Trains 121 Persons

A record enrollment of 121 blind persons were trained with guide dogs and graduated by Guide Dogs for the Blind, during 1960, according to report by board president Robert H. Schnacke.

"This was a 20 per cent increase in production," said Schnacke.

Substantial increase in the cost of training teams was reported by treasurer Homer Keaton who said it now costs $1,800 per team.

A nine-county Bay Area campaign for funds, it was announced, will start April 5 with a luncheon and fashion show at the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Ike Nixes Air Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, for reasons of foreign policy, yesterday rejected major recommendations of the Civil Aeronautics Board to allow more U.S. airlines to fly transpacific routes to Tokyo.

Acting on his last full day as president, Eisenhower said he believed such international air route allocations should not be made unless it can be shown that the additional U.S. plane traffic would not make foreign carrier service economically untenable. In this case, he said, no such evidence was produced.

Laos Force Advances

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — A Laotian government column today pushed to within 10 miles of the important Phou Khoun road junction commanding the western approach to the rebel-held Plaine des Jarres.

The column had advanced north from Vientiane. It captured the rebel base at Vang Vieng Monday and has driven 30 more miles north, reports from the front said.

Brush Fire Controlled

CAMP PENDLETON (UPI)—A major brush fire, which swept up dry Cristianitos Canyon and burned almost 4,000 acres on the northwest edge of this Marine base, was 90 per cent controlled today.

Fire officials said last night that most of the blaze was encircled and with favorable weather conditions should be brought completely under control by late morning or early afternoon.

4 Beaten To Death

CASTROVILLE, Monterey County (UPI)—Four men, believed to be itinerant farm workers, were found beaten to death yesterday in a small camp beside the Southern Pacific railroad tracks.

Mrs. Freeman Arbo, who lives nearby, told police she saw and heard five men arguing near the tracks Wednesday night but dismissed it as a drunken brawl. Monterey County Undersheriff Carol Jay said the victims, all Caucasians ranging in age from about 20 to 50, had been bludgeoned about their heads. He said robbery was not the motive, as wallets and loose change were found in the men's clothing.

There was no nuclear bomb on the plane, the Air Force said.

Yugo Dissenter Freed

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) —Former Vice President Milovan Djilas was released on parole today from the prison where he had served nearly five years for criticizing Communist policies.

Djilas, 47, was sentenced in 1956 to serve three years in a prison 60 miles west of Belgrade for criticizing Yugoslavia's attitude toward the Hungarian revolt in articles printed abroad. He was retired the next year after the publication in New York of his book, "The New Class," and sentenced to serve an additional six years. The book was sharply critical of modern communism.

EVERYBODY WAS LATE

Weather Snafus Inaugural Gala

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy spent the first hour and a half of his inaugural day watching the last acts of a glossy revue staged in his honor by a huge cast of Hollywood and Broadway stars.

He appeared to be having the time of his life.

But when the massive show ended at 1:30 a.m.—90 minutes behind schedule—Kennedy struck a serious note.

"It is now inauguration day," he said, quietly. "I hope that all of you will join Lyndon B. Johnson and myself in committing us all to the defense of the Constitution of the United States."

Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, and Vice President-elect and Mrs. Johnson drove to the National Guard Armory through a stinging, blinding snowstorm. It was one of the worst in Washington's history.

Kennedy's car, and those following it, had trouble getting up Capitol Hill.

It was Mrs. Kennedy's first formal appearance since the birth of her second child. She wore white silk ottoman, and a diamond and emerald necklace.

The Kennedys reached the armory about a half hour after the show was scheduled to begin. But that was well before thousands of others in the audiance reached there. Sir Laurence Olivier, one of the principals in the cast, was reported stranded at the British Embassy. Olivier finally made it. Eleanor Roosevelt, also scheduled to appear with the cast, didn't get to the scene at all.

Apparently in order to give other guests time to arrive, Kennedy and his wife waited in a reception room for an hour instead of going to their box. The show was timed to start a moment after he took his seat. It was an hour and 40 minutes late.

The armory, with a capacity of 13,000, was about half filled when the show started. Democratic officials hoped nevertheless that tickets sold would bring an estimated 1.3 million dollars toward defraying campaign expenses.

Kennedy said the party had gone into debt four million to win the presidency.

Once the big show was under way, the howling storm and bitter cold outside were forgotten.

Bette Davis, Frederic March, Sidney Poitier, Anthony Quinn, and Olivier started it off. Each briefly recited some aspect of the world, the United States, and the presidency in the hour of Kennedy's coming to office.

Then, for more than two hours, the stars followed each other on stage.

There were singers Sinatra, Ethel Merman, Helen Traubel, Louis Prima, Ella Fitzgerald, Nat King Cole and Harry Belafonte. Between songs, comedians Joey Bishop, Alan King, Jimmy Durante, and Milton Berle held the stage. Gene Kelly and Juliet Prowse performed the main dance numbers.

After the intermission, Johnson was introduced and spoke briefly. He said the appearance of so many people on such a night was "a perfect example of the spirit of the Democratic Party. Neither rain, nor sleet, nor snow can stop the Democrats once they get going."

Mrs. Kennedy did not stay until the end. She left around 1 a.m.

As the last number closed, and the house lights went up, Sinatra announced, "The president-elect, John F. Kennedy." The audience rose to a man and gave Kennedy a long ovation.

INTO THE SNOW — Jacqueline Kennedy lifts her ball gown skirt on her way to inaugural concert as snowstorm lashes Washington. She and her husband, John F. Kennedy, were at their Georgetown home last night before joining in inaugural festivities. Their participation was hampered by the storm. (AP Wirephoto)

Agency Ordered To Pay Damages In Truck Case

A San Rafael auto firm must pay $9,237 damages because it did not complete a repair job on a dump truck as agreed upon in 1956, a Marin judge ruled yesterday.

Judge Harold J. Haley, sitting in superior court, handed down the decision in favor of Philip F. Rogers of San Francisco and against Ames Ford Sales.

Rogers, who operates a fleet of trucks specializing in highway construction, said he took a dump truck to Ames Ford for repairs in October of 1956. Ames offered to do the job for $1,022 in a six-week period, but held it for about eight months, leaving the truck standing outside so that the engine was ruined, Rogers complained. He said he had to finally repossess it and tow it away, and have the work done elsewhere.

Rogers asked for $30,000 damages for cost of getting substitute equipment while the truck was being held at Ames, and $10,000 for exemplary damages.

The judge decided that the trucking operator is entitled to $9,237 damages, and ordered the car agency to pay up.

Landscape Company Files Incorporation

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan announced Cagwin & Dorward, a Marin County landscape contracting company, has filed articles of incorporation with his office, to be capitalized at $200,000 in $10 par shares.

Directors of the company were listed as Thomas deV. Cagwin, 7 South Oak Avenue, San Anselmo; David Dorward, Fern Avenue, Kentfield, and Richard Tyler, 40 Montecito Road, San Rafael.

UNLIKELY TO REACH COURT

Suit Against Test-Tube Baby Doctor Is Filed

ROME, (UPI)—Legal experts predicted today that charges of "infanticide" against a doctor who experimented with human embryo will not reach court.

In Italy, any citizen can file a "denunciation" against any person. The prosecutor general is obligated to read the denunciation and decide if it is worthy of bringing charges.

Antonio Mirra, 43, said Wednesday he has mailed to a Bologna court a denunciation against Dr. Dany Petrucci and his two assistants.

Dr. Petrucci recently announced he had achieved test tube fertilization of human ova some 40 times, carrying one such culture to 29 days before ending it.

Then Mirra, known for his frequent filing of suits on obscure points of law, joined the argument. He denounced Petrucci under a penal code article which provided "whoever causes the death of a newly-born baby immediately after birth or of a foetus at birth to save his own honor or that of a near relative is punishable for from three to ten years."

Legal experts here did not believe that Petrucci's experiments with embryo were covered by this code section.

HOOVER MISSES INAUGURATION, PLANS TO FISH

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Former President Herbert Hoover, driven back to Florida by heavy snow in Washington, eased his disappointment over missing John F. Kennedy's inauguration today by laying plans for a month of fishing in the Keys.

Hoover attempted to fly to Washington yesterday. But the airport was closed by snow, and he was forced to return to Miami aboard his Air Force DC-6.

The former chief executive spent a marathon nine hours and 15 minutes in the air in his route from Miami to the nation's capitol and back.

Kennedy's inauguration is the first presidential inauguration Hoover had missed since he left the White House in 1933. He said he "sent word to Mr. Kennedy that I'd made a hard try. I wished him well and told him I regretted I couldn't be there."

Hoover said he hadn't decided yet where he would begin his Florida fishing. Miss Bernice Miller, his secretary and only companion on yesterday's trip, said, "he just follows the fish."

Kennedy's Doctors Announce He's In Excellent Health

NEW YORK (AP) — The crippling railroad tieup tightened its grip on New York and New England today as snow, ice and bitter cold brought new hardship for the horde of commuters forced to use buses and private autos.

Emergency negotiations sponsored by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller recessed at 2 a.m. with no progress in efforts to settle the harbor strike that caused the ever-widening rail paralysis.

Rockefeller, who canceled plans to attend the Kennedy inauguration, invited the negotiators and federal mediators to meet with him later today.

The governor said the tieup was "getting close to catastrophic proportions."

Democratic Club Names Officers

Richard Dawe, past president, was appointed assistant program chairman. Named to committees were: Eleanor Karp aand Jean Sestack, issues; Jane Rice, membership; Joan Furlong, publicity.

Study groups will be formed to study foreign policy, human rights and education, Jacobs said.

Storm Cuts Inaugural Fetes Crowds

The six-inch snow, whipped by winds of more than 20 miles an hour, hit when the city was already bursting at the seams with celebrating Democrats.

Cars were inching along, when they moved at all. Batteries went dead. Gas tanks ran dry.

STREET CARS HALTED

Many of those who live in nearby Virginia and Maryland found themselves stranded in Washington, with all hotel rooms taken.

Many who had planned to fly into Washington found the National Airport closed down. Among those in this plight was former President Herbert Hoover, who returned to Florida because his plane couldn't land.

President-elect John F. Kennedy and the man who becomes his vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson, managed to get to both of last night's major events, the symphony concert and the $100-a-ticket Democratic Gala.

LEAVES EARLY

Mrs. Kennedy left the gala at the intermission. Kennedy stayed through the entire performance, then went to a downtown restaurant with friends. He remained until after 3 a.m.

The gala and the concert were pale copies of their glittering dreams.

At the time the concert was supposed to begin only 20 members of the 95-piece orchestra had been able to mush their way to Constitution Hall. When conductor Howard Mitchell started the performance, 45 minutes late, he still had several missing musicians, including the violin soloist, Mischa Elman.

Although all seats were sold long ago, only a sparse crowd showed up. But it gave Kennedy and his wife, Jacqueline, a big hand.

There were more problems at the gala, where singer Frank Sinatra had lined up an all-star show. The program didn't begin until 10:40, an hour and 40 minutes late, and even with latecomers still straggling in, the big armory was only about half filled.

Talks Fail In New York Rail Tieup

WASHINGTON (AP) — John F. Kennedy's doctors said today his health continues to be excellent.

The statement was issued in response to newsmen's inquiries about two hours before Kennedy was scheduled to be sworn in as president.

"A physical examination this month indicated that President Kennedy's health continues to be excellent," said a statement signed by Dr. Eugene J. Cohen and Dr. Janet Travell, both of New York.

Dr. Travell treated Kennedy for the serious back ailment which brought him close to death a few years ago.

It was a flareup of an injury he suffered while in college, and which was aggravated when the motor topedo boat which he commanded was slashed in half by a Japanese destroyer during World War II.

Park Attendance

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The State Division of Beaches and Parks reports that in 1950 state park attendance was 6.6 million. In 1960, the division said, attendance reached 25 million.

Eastern Area Paralyzed By Huge Blizzard

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A huge blizzard staggered much of the snowbound East today, blocking roads, closing hundreds of schools and factories and trapping grounded planes.

The snow ranged up to 29 inches and, in some areas, blustering winds blew up drifts that were hip-high.

STORM DEATHS

The inauguration of President John F. Kennedy shared attention in Washington with emergency action to get the big show on the road. Eight inches of snow, blown by winds with gusts up to 32 miles an hour, brought out thousands of workmen and a fleet of trucks.

But the national capital fared well compared with some cities that were virtually paralyzed.

10-INCH FALL

New York City was clobbered by snow that averaged 10 inches. Schools were closed and business and industry were hit by a lack of manpower.

The blizzard swept into the city in the midst of a strike that already had halted ferryboat and rail service for 70,000 commuters. Winds reared man-high drifts. What traffic there was crawled through relatively empty streets.

Middletown, N.Y., reported a 29-inch fall and a shutdown of some banks and factories.

TO BE REMEMBERED

"This looks like a winter you'll long remember," commented the Weather Bureau at Harrisburg, Pa. The city was buried under 20 inches of snow, the heaviest in 16 years.

More than a foot of snow blanketed Philadelphia. All public and parochial schools suspended classes. Operations ceased at the Philadelphia International and North Philadelphia airports.

The snow measured 18 inches in Sussex, N.J., around a foot in Newark, N.J., and Staunton, Va., 11 inches in Newburgh, N.Y., and Allentown, Pa., 7 inches in Boston and 18 inches in the mountains in eastern West Virginia.

BIT THE TENOR

Leopard Spotted For Opera Ousted

LONDON (AP) — Shapur the leopard seems to have lost his chance for a slink-on role in opera.

He bit the tenor.

"I don't think this leopard is a suitable stage partner," said the singer, Charles Craig.

Sadler's Wells Opera House next Wednesday will present a new production of Strauss' opera "Ariadne auf Naxos." Craig will sing the role of the god Bacchus, who in mythology is usually accompanied by a leopard. In the interests of realism—and publicity—the opera management decided a live leopard was needed.

The 140-pounder from Bengal seemed amiable enough, and Craig stroked him to introduce himself.

Shapur blinked, sniffed — and bit the tenor on the arm.

It wasn't a bad bite, but Craig complained: "He hadn't even heard me sing when he bit me. Goodness knows what he would do with a full orchestra and singers in full blast."

"The audition was not a complete success," a spokesman for the company admitted. The leopard uttered only one note —a low growl. That seemed more ominous than operatic.

"It was only intended that the leopard should appear for a short time in the last act. But we may have to change our plans now."

Statewide Bank Chain Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board cleared the way yesterday for organization of a new statewide banking chain in California by approving merger of the First Western Bank and California Bank.

The new system will be know as United California Bank. The merger is expected to be accomplished in late February.

First Western has more than 100 branches throughout the state and California Bank has 70 branches in Southern California. Purpose of the merger is to create a system that will be statewide in scope and will have major representation in the Los Angeles and San Francisco metropolitan areas.

First America Corp. of Los Angeles, a bank holding company, is a majority stockholder in both First Western and California. The Justice Department said the merger, as first proposed, would have had the effect of reducing competition.

But under a subsequent agreement, the new chain will not be permitted to take over all the old First Western offices. In cities where First Western has a number of branches, some offices will become part of United California and others will be made part of a separate system, under the name of First Western Bank and Trust Co.

The world's first radio sermon was delivered by Dr. Edwin J. van Etten in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1921.

Assemblyman Rips School Book System

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California's single adoption system on elementary school textbooks came under attack in the legislature yesterday.

Assemblyman Gordon H. Winton Jr. (D-Merced) introduced a bill to give local school districts a choice of textbooks from a list approved by the State Board of Education.

At present, the State Curriculum Commission selects textbooks, generally one in each subject, for use by all schools.

The Citizens Advisory Commission on Education has recomended a change to multiple adoption.

"Multiple adoption will enable local districts to select different books if they have different curriculum and views on educational philosophy," Winton said.

HENRY C. HANKINS
To state post

Marin Man Will Head Parks Unit

Henry C. Hankins of Point Reyes Station has been named state president of the California Marine Parks and Harbors Assn., it was announced today.

He was formerly president of the northern division of the association.

The 16-year-old association advocates and promotes through legislation the development of boating facilities throughout the state. It also investigates proposed regulations and spending of money on boating and harbor facilities.

Hankins was administrative officer of the Stockton Naval Supply Annex until his retirement in 1953. He has served as chairman of inland waterways systems commission to an interim committee of the state legislature.

He belongs to the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce, West Marin Lions Club, Marin County Harbor Committee, Inverness Yacht Club and is chairman of the Tomales Bay Harbor Committee. He was recently appointed delegate to the Pacific Inter-Club Yachting Assn. from the Inverness Yacht Club.

Income Jump

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The personal income of Californians may jump 4.2 per cent to a total of 45 billion dollars in 1961, according to estimates of the California Chamber of Commerce.

Sanitation Treatment Plant Extension Eyed

The San Rafael Sanitation District treatment plant may need a $200,000 to $300,000 expansion program beginning in about three years, District Administrator Norris Rawles told the board of directors yesterday.

The plant, located off Francisco Boulevard in East San Rafael, was built in 1949 at a cost of $275,000.

"We are not at capacity yet, but we are looking toward the future to meet the area's exploding population," Rawles said.

A program to increase the capacity of the plant 50 per cent would be done in stages and probably cover 10 years, Rawles said. The district maintains an expansion fund accumulated by the $125 per house sewer connection fee.

Directors told Rawles to make a study of the future needs of the plant.

They also directed Rawles to work with the county counsel (who is attorney for the district) in drafting a regulatory ordinance to require septic tank cleaners to take their sewage to the treatment plant. There are too many cases of it being dumped down manholes, Rawles said.

Boy Scout Chief Surprised With Beaver Award

Two honors came to Carl G. Brown Jr. of Kentfield last night and one was a big surprise.

He knew that he was to be installed as president of the Marin Council, Boy Scouts of America. But it was news to him that he was to receive the coveted Silver Beaver award, highest honor for outstanding service to boys.

Also recipient of a Silver Beaver was Burton J. Stutz of Marinwood, praised with Brown by William P. Murray, chairman of the Silver Beaver selection committee, for community service to the youth of Marin County.

Presentation and installation were features of the annual meeting of Marin Council at the Hamilton Air Force Base Officers' Club.

"For God and Country" was the subject of a talk by Cmdr. Thomas J. Keane, USN (ret), formerly with the Boy Scouts International Bureau in Ottawa, Canada.

Others installed as officers included three vice presidents, Thomas J. Barfield, Wagner d'Alessio and Roderick P. Martinelli; Murray as treasurer and Elmer S. Palmquist as his assistant, and Dr. G. William Magladry as scout commissioner.

NOBODY, BUT NOBODY GOT HIS GOAT

The atmosphere was quiet and studious in the College of Marin's Fusselman Library Wednesday as students pored over their books in preparation for final examinations this week and next.

Then studying abruptly ended as a visitor appeared at the front door. It was a goat.

Some of the students invited the animal inside, but it refused to budge. According to reports, the goat belongs to a resident of College Avenue across from the campus, and turns up regularly at Olney Hall.

The goat was last seen headed for the admissions office, students said.

Sausalito Recreation Unit Accepts Program

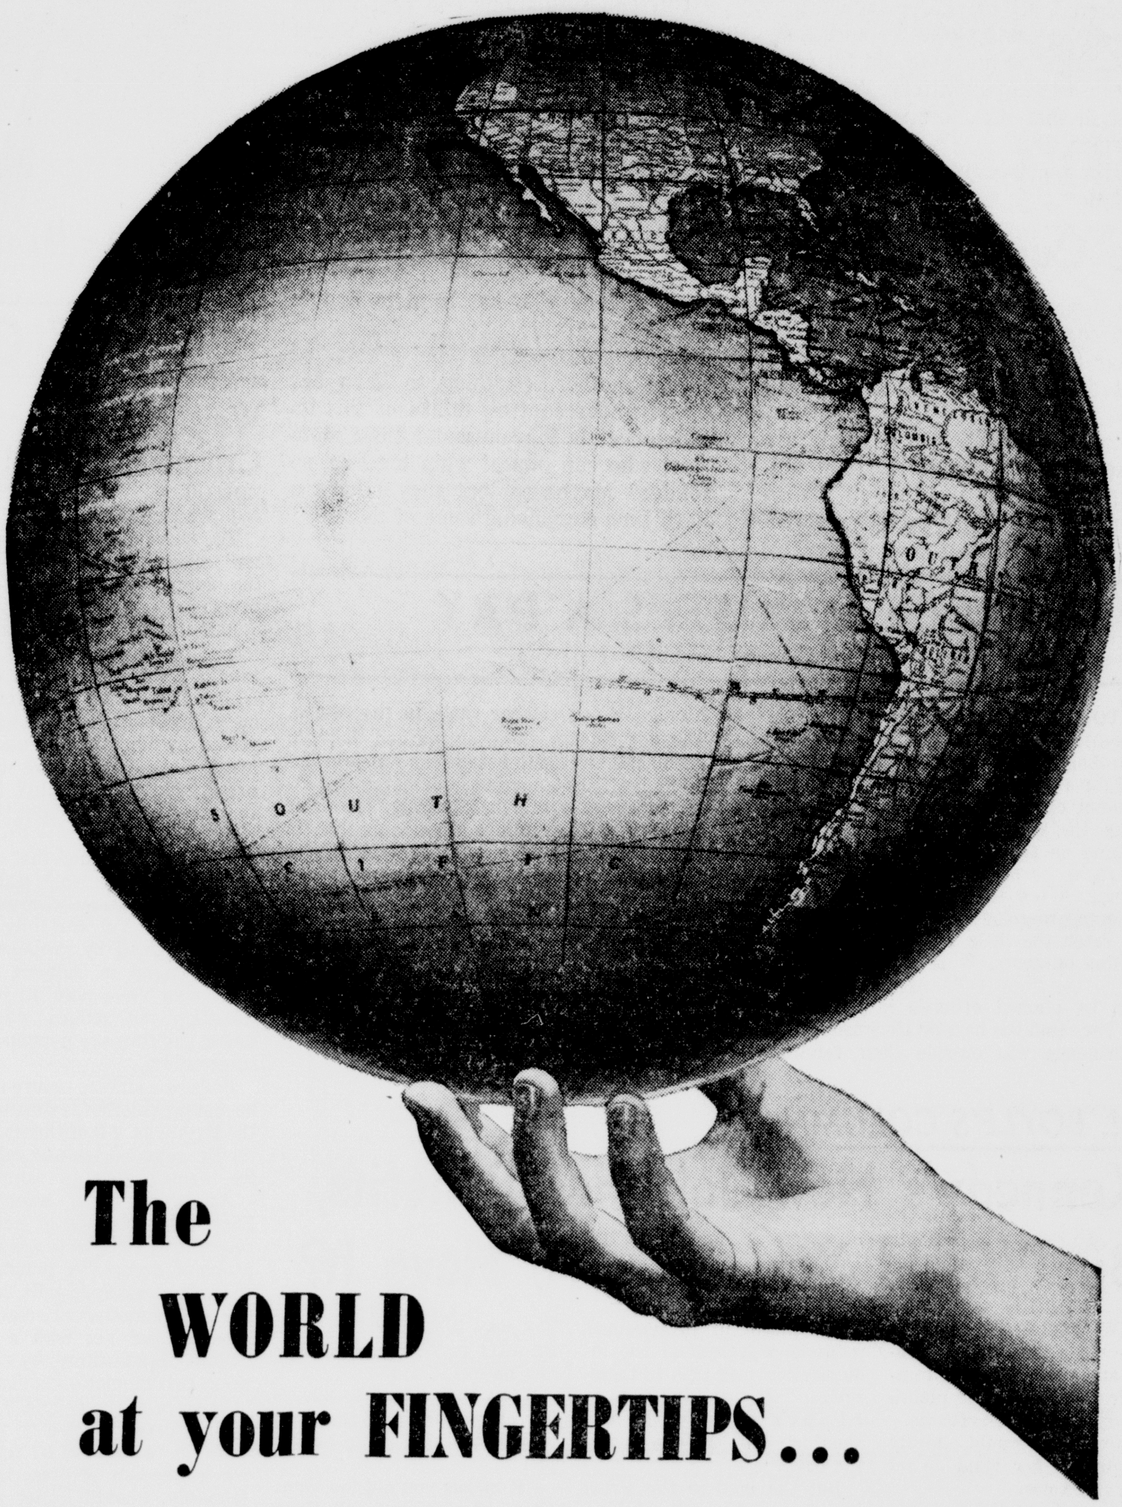

The Sausalito Recreation Commission last night unanimously approved its 13-page recreation development program and will submit it for approval of the city council Feb. 7.

The plan, according to Chairman John R. Minton, has two primary projects: (1) a major waterfront access area for recreational, civic and cultural use—the proposed Napa-Litho Street area; and (2) neighborhood parks in residential districts.

The commission also recommends further development of existing facilities. One such recommendation is that the North Street right-of-way be expanded eastward from Bridgeway to create a sandspit, approximately 100 feet in length, for a beach, a children's playground and vantage point. There is now a small park at the foot of North Streets steps and the sandspit would extend into the water off Bridgeway.

Also in the report is an inventory of existing recreational facilities—those owned by the city, those leased by the city and school-owned proptrty which is available for public recreation.

National 4-H Club Week will be celebrated March 4-10, 1961.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

We Hope John F. Kennedy Is Our Greatest President

Today we have a new President.

It is our prayer that John Fitzgerald Kennedy will be the greatest President this country has ever known.

This is not hypocracy on our part. Certainly we supported his opponent, Richard M. Nixon. But that election is history. Today we have a new man in control of the executive branch of our government and, short of death or revolution, we will have him for the next four years.

So it is not a matter of Republican or Democratic Party. The better our President, the better will be the United States of America and its people. The better the United States, the better the world.

So nothing could please us more than that President Kennedy would turn out to be the best in our history. We would then wish that his successor would be still better.

We have not been won over to the New Frontier or the wild promises of the Democratic Party Platform. We still intend to be a critical, but loyal, opposition if President Kennedy starts to push programs which we believe to be disadvantageous to our nation.

But we also promise him our full support in his efforts to keep the peace of the world, to accomplish effective disarmament, to make the United Nations work, to defeat communism, to improve the standard of living in underprivileged areas not only of the United States but of the world, to halt inflation, to keep a balanced budget, and in many other areas.

Our congratulations and best wishes to President Kennedy. And we would join President Eisenhower in his wish:

"I wish the new President, and all who labor with him, God-speed. I pray that the coming years will be blessed peace and prosperity for all."

Are Our Tots Tender?

Are American children a bunch of softies compared to British children? Yes, say a group of physical educators who studied children in both countries. But we wonder.

Certainly Americans as a whole are not the walkers that the English are. Hiking through the lush, green British countryside is a most popular recreation. Anyone who has been to Britain will testify to this.

But we also wonder what a harassed Marin mother, straining to keep her brood under control, thinks of this intelligence! Is this muscular little monster, who can almost whip his Pop, so tender? Maybe so, but they'll have a hard time convincing some of us.

HOW TO CATCH A SQUIRREL

A squirrel fell down the chimney of a stockbroker's home in Long Island and it looked for a while as if it were going to be a permanent occupant.

When the owner saw the furry animal scratching on the screened fireplace in his living room, he knew he had a problem on his hands. A few telephone calls to friends in the area proved ineffective. They suggested he catch the little fellow in a box and turn him outdoors. It is easier said than done.

Next he phoned officials in the nearby town. They told the harried stockbroker that his residence was outside their territory. Finally, a dog catcher came to the rescue. The dog catcher, however, warned the man not to call him again because he was prevented by law from squirrel catching. Such an extreme example of "buck-passing," however justified, is rare. But it reminds us that, in more serious situations, each of us has to avoid the tendency to "let George do it" and to use our God-given talents to solve problems we are competent to handle.

"Bear one another's Burdens, and so you will fulfill the law of Christ."

Help me, O Lord, to undertake the jobs You have given me the strength to do.

HAL BOYLE'S COLUMN

Kennedy's New Job Has Benefits, But Would You Like To Have It?

NEW YORK (AP)—The job has a big salary, a nice pension, and you get to live rent-free in a fine old house plentifully staffed with servants.

Doesn't it sound like every man's dream?

Well, every American mother's son has a born right to aspire to this wonderful job—but most of them say they wouldn't take it for love, patriotism or money. To them it isn't a dream job. It's a living nightmare.

That job is the one 43-year-old John F. Kennedy takes over today—the presidency of the United States.

A handful of professional politicians present at the inauguration may sigh to themselves, "Why couldn't it have happened to me? Why shouldn't I be the one taking the oath?"

But the man in the street has no envy at all of Kennedy, and no desire for his job. To him it would be not a boon, but an affliction.

"Too much responsibility."

"You have to make too many important decisions. The way it is now I can let my wife make the decisions. She enjoys it. I don't."

"You have to try to please too many people. Even then half of them wind up hating you."

"It makes you old too soon. Ever notice how much older a president looks after he's been in office a few years?"

"YOU MIGHT have to decide to send the country to war. If I had a worry like that on my mind, I'd never sleep at night."

"Who'd want all those servants standing around listening when your wife bawled you out? Me—I like a little more privacy."

WHEN IT COMES to guiding the destiny of the nation, John Q. Public is more than glad to "let George do it."

Weisenheimer Criticizes I-J Poll

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The current I-J "straw ballot" raises a question as to the appropriate role of the press.

Balloting as a means of determining public choice of candidates or issues is an established function of government. The statement "as suggested by William D. Fusselman" does not relieve the press from responsibility for the decision to invade this role.

It might be argued that the poll, having no legal status cannot affect directly the ultimate issue. Yet certainly it will be quoted by proponent or opponent in support of their own views and as justification for actions which under law they are personally responsible.

Polls of a similar nature are becoming popular features in the Bay Area. All of them suffer the same absence of validity, namely bias in sample.

As every social scientist knows, the selection of a representative sample is a basic problem design. In balloting through newspaper polls, only the highly motivated respond (pro or con) yet with a resultant implication by the press that tabulation indicates "the voice of the people."

The press rightfully protests the invasion of its rights when freedom of press is in jeopardy. Should it not protect with equal vigor the province of other institutions? Let's keep the vote in the polling booth.

McCarthy Has Bridge Obsession

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

Methinks he protesteth too much. Senator Jack McCarthy apparently has developed an obsession toward the Golden Gate Bridge directors. He is acting more like a pouty child who can't have his own way than a man who has his name being bandied around as a possible candidate for governor.

We people in the Golden Gate Bridge District put up our homes as security when we voted for the bridge, and the directors have protected us. Furthermore, not once have we been called upon to pay one cent (1c) in taxes toward payment of interest, principal, or maintenance, and the directors have a sinking fund of about eight million dollars to help pay off the bonds when they mature, and a reserve fund of over 10 million dollars for betterment or repairs. The Golden Gate Bridge is a gold mine which bureaucrats would like to confiscate for their own profits.

When the bridge is paid for, what then? Eighty per cent of the profits will belong to the taxpayers of San Francisco and the remaining 20 per cent to the taxpayers of the other counties in the district, including Marin. This money could be used as a source of revenue in the counties, thereby reducing property taxes which, as we all know, have just about reached the saturation point. The senator wants our money for a form of metropolitan government as indicated in his plans for a Golden Gate Authority.

Incidentally, the San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District, one of the senator's pet projects (and I do not condemn him for it) had an adjusted budget in 1959-1960, paid for by the taxpayers, of $1,843,573 from which salaries were paid for a Director of Information, Information Officer II, and Information Officer I. In addition to these positions and 12 clerks, there were salaries for President of the Board, Vice President of the Board, General Manager, Secretary, Chief Engineer, Assistant Chief Engineer, Senior Engineer, Economist, Administrative Assistant, Accountant II, $18,000 for district board fees, and $5,000 for temporary help for a total of $221,088 in salaries.

There was also a total of $15,700 for travel in and out of the district for directors, officers, and employees; and a figure of $50,000 for public information services—the senator doth not question these sums!!!

I suggest the people in the Golden Gate Bridge District fight for what is their's and hold on to our bridge, and support our directors for what they have done. We can do this by writing to our assemblymen and senators to oppose legislation which would hinder the bridge administration and deprive us of our just rights in the bridge.

MRS. J. LEE CHAILLE
San Anselmo

(NOTE: Reader Chaille is right about no taxes for repayment of the bonds, but taxes were levied by the district in two years before the bonds were sold. Her assessed valuations of the district are incorrect, however. San Francisco now has just over 75 per cent of the district's valuation, not 80 per cent, to just under 25 per cent for the rest of the district. Also profits from the bridge cannot be used by the counties under present law; the law would have to be changed to make this possible.)

Build Schools From Tax Rate?

Editor,
Independent-Journal:

The moans, cries and indignation being created over the "stop work" order on the civic center would be entirely impressive if that same energy had been exerted by those who are doing the yelling to pass the recent school bonds.

Even though this matter will again appear on the ballot in April, there is no assurance it will be carried unless these same do-gooders constitute themselves a bond committee to actively do some campaigning.

It appears to me that the proper education of our children in decent surroundings and with decent equipment is far more important to the welfare of the county than having a bunch of politicians housed in a Shangrila of Frank Lloyd Wright's

Both are undoubtedly desirable but did I hear anyone say "build and fix up our schools out of the tax rate?" I did not.

A little boy at the planetarium got his first glimpse of the moon's surface through a powerful telescope. The huge craters fascinated him most. "Golly," he exclaimed, "my pop must have been up there playing golf."

Nothing in New York was too small for the late Meyer Berger, well-loved columnist of the Times, to investigate, and that included termites. Berger discovered that termites possess, among other things, distinctly inspirational qualities, and that furthermore, after courtship the dear creatures embark upon nuptial flights. Remember Ogden Nash's poem about termites?:

And that is why your

Those Marin Youths In A Truck Have Reached South America

Remember the four young men from Marin who set off for South America last month in a panel truck they bought for $40?

One month and many flat tires later, and minus one of their group, the boys have reached Panama and by now may be in Colombia, on their way down the South American coast.

L. W. Simmonds of 130 Edison Avenue, Corte Madera, tells us his son, Douglas 20, has written home from Panama City.

DOUG AND HIS companions, Larry Kiewert of Corte Madera, Frank Cotton of Kentfield and Robert Buchholz of Belvedere, spent Christmas in Mexico City. Buchholz flew home from Guatemala, but the other three continued their trip. On New Year's Day they were in Nicaragua.

The trip through Costa Rica was a rough one, Doug wrote his father. Some 120 miles of the Pan-American Highway have not yet been completed, so the boys drove through the jungle and had to ford about 30 rivers.

In the jungle, which was "just like the movies," red ants made their nights uncomfortable. On one of the rivers their truck got stuck on a rock, and they had to work all night to get it out.

ANOTHER YOUNG man, John E. Hendry, a 1960 graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, writes from India where he has been sight seeing as a student with the International School of America.

Son of Mrs. Katherine Ross Hendry of Fairfax and Col. John E. Hendry Jr. of San Rafael, young Hendry has a year's scholarship with the "globe-trotting school."

In a group of 22 traveling students and a faculty of five, Hendry has heard several government officials discuss India's problems; met Prime Minister Nehru; visited temples, mosques and palaces and the slums of Calcutta.

"In Agra, we saw the Taj Mahal, first by moonlight and later as the sun rose at dawn. It was very beautiful, especially when the varying light changed the white marble into different pastels. I stayed there five hours just looking at it and wandering through the gardens," Hendry wrote.

KENT SCHOOL eighth graders were an unhappy group last week when their plans to see Bart Lahr in Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" abruptly fell through.

The kids had been studying the play in preparation for seeing it. They called the theater and got reservations confirmed for 100 for the Saturday matinee.

Last Thursday a teacher went to get the tickets (the youngsters were paying their own way) and was told there was no record of the reservation, and all seats were sold.

Some of the parents and teachers were able to get a few seats for the Saturday night performance, and took about 30 youngsters, but for the most part, it was a disappointed group.

"Somebody goofed," they said sadly.

Algerian Referendum Is More Decisive Than Figures Indicate

WASHINGTON—The referendum on Algeria is, it seems to me, more decisive than the gross figures seem to show.

It is true that if we count the abstainers as having voted no, then Gen. de Gaulle received 56 per cent of the vote in France itself and only 39 per cent in Algeria. But these figures do not tell correctly the story of what happened.

What was the issue on which all these votes were cast? It was whether Gen. de Gaulle should have a mandate to make an Algerian settlement on the basis, if necessary, of independence for Algeria. On this issue France itself voted overwhelmingly to give de Gaulle a mandate to make an Algerian peace.

ONLY ABOUT 18 per cent of the registered voters sought to deny him the mandate. But who were they? They were the Rightists who want to retain Algeria as a part of France and they were the Communists who, while they do not care about Algeria, are opposed for other reasons to de Gaulle.

Most of the non-voters, moreover, are to be counted as silent assenters to de Gaulle's policies, for in France the politically passive are, for the most part, willing to go along with his leadership.

We may conclude that France itself, metropolitan France, has now said decisively that it wants peace, that it does not support any longer the resistance of the Europeans in Algeria, and that, while it hopes for an association with Algeria, it is prepared to accept an independent Algeria. This is a decisive result.

THE VOTING in Algeria itself was much less significant. The Europeans voted no, as of course they would. The Moslems abstained in the cities, following the instructions of the rebel leaders, and in the country they voted when the French Army took them to the polls.

One cannot take these votes seriously. What the voting does show is that the Europeans are a small minority, no longer supported politically by their compatriots in France, and that the Moslems will follow the leaders of the rebellion.

The practical conclusions to be drawn from all this are, it seems to me, these:

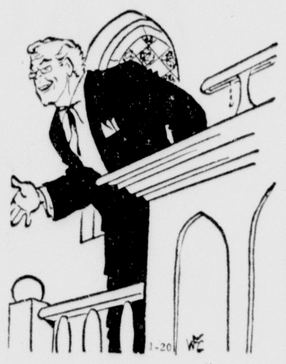

First, an Algerian peace will have to be negotiated with the Algerians who have waged the war. It cannot be negotiated with anyone else.

Second, the European minority, which is to lose its political privileges, will now be in jeopardy of losing everything under the pressure of the huge Moslem majority.

In withdrawing their support of the European settlers, the people of metropolitan France have assumed the obligation of protecting the lives of the settlers and of indemnifying them for the possible loss of their property.

BY THIS REFERENDUM Gen. de Gaulle has won a vote of confidence in himself, he has won a mandate to proceed to the surgical operation which peace almost certainly requires, and he has received notice that the people of France want to finish with the Algerian business.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

Many People Go Out On Sundays For Breakfast—Nicasio Has Menu

Sunday breakfast or brunch is a regular weekly occasion out for some people. They find it more relaxing than going out for dinner; a more enjoyable experience to choose the daylight hours than those of eventide.

Most recent restaurant to make a bid for this group's attendance is Rancho Nicasio where, surprisingly enough, there is often sunshine when the rest of the county is overcast.

Beginning this Sunday, Nick Kobseff and Glenn Kerch are featuring a hearty Nicasio western fizz breakfast or brunch from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. An all-inclusive price of $2 has been named—$1.25 for children—and the selections are varied enough to satisfy most anyone.

The occasion, suggests big Nick, may be used to take a side trip over to the Nicasio dam site—or, Catholic Church goers might like to use the opportunity to attend Our Lady of Loretta Church in Nicasio. Protestants, too, may find churches of their own faith in other sections of West Marin.

And—adds Nick—if anyone is that ambitious, he can even take a dip in the Rancho Nicasio swimming pool which, however, will not be up to its usual summer temperature.

REDBOOK MAGAZINE for January carries an article by Patricia and Ron Deutsch on "A Wonderful Week in San Francisco" wherein the authors give an account of several Bay Area dineries visited.

Included are two in Marin County—Sabella's, where the pair had their first taste of abalone, which must have been the restaurant's specialty Abalone a la Giovani, since it was described as "stuffed with crab and topped with a delicate shrimp sauce."

Also Ondine, where tribute was paid to the waterside spot's "high and fluffy souffle Grand Marnier."

So Marin does get recognized from time to time for its restaurants and their specialty dishes—which you might just remember if you're inclined to think the salad is greener on the other side of the bay.

DOMENIC'S, the San Rafael restaurant venture of Crocker-McDevitt Enterprises, should be ready to open to the public about April 8, according to the latest word received.

Structural work is well on the road to completion, but for the type of spot it's going to be, finishing and installation of equipment will proceed more slowly.

This place will have a good-sized dining room with a canal view, and a banquet room to seat more than 500.

MY WIFE likes Chinese food. If I don't take her, sooner or later she'll wind up with one of her friends at Travelers Inn where, she affirms, Jimmy Louie's Chinese food is the tops.

I cannot argue the point—my own sampling of the fare there has been more than satisfactory. Prices are delightfully reasonable, and while Jimmy makes no attempt to serve everything in the book, that type of operation is more costly and in Marin County requires advance notice for specially prepared dishes.

The Chinese, I've been told by chefs who have traced the evolution and peregrination of gourmet cooking around the globe, were the originators of many Eastern and European dishes and their manner of preparation which are generally credited to the countries that were the first to adopt them.

The Travelers Inn, by the way, is a great family place. Youngsters usually love it and are substantially represented among Jimmy's admirers.

OF ALL the times I've eaten at El Paseo restaurant in Mill Valley, it was only recently that I had occasion to go there for lunch, which I must say is a popular pasttime among residents at the foot of the mountain.

As sweetbreads a la Francaise were on the menu I thought to try them for a cold mid-day sustenance and found them quite enticing.

This was also, I believe, the first time that I had seen Mary's pies by daylight. Either she has been looking too long at the mountain and is trying to sculpture it in merangue or the light played tricks with my vision, for I know of no more appropriate way to describe these pastries than call them Mount Tamal-pies. I disclaim any reward for the pun—all credit should go to Mary for the art work that inspired it.

Mary was working on a sherry and vermouth martini with the juniper berry flavor. By golly, I think she's almost got it. Just a little more real pale sherry and . . .

Or should it be more vermouth?

More Needy Children Aid Will Be Asked

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The governor's office revealed today the Brown administration is planning to ask the legislature for an extra 1.6 million dollars for the controversial Aid to Needy Children program.

A memorandum issued to the press included the ANC funds in a breakdown of a 24-million-dollar welfare boost Gov. Edmund G. Brown plans to ask in his forthcoming budget request. Except for the ANC funds, the money would cover only six months starting next Jan. 1.

The total includes $5,818,700 in federal funds, most of it for the chronically ill aged.

The breakdown included $324,000 to increase payments to foster homes caring for needy children, and $1,311,000 for administrative assistance to county welfare department to handle ANC. The total includes $590,000 in federal funds.

The ANC program, now costing about 150 million dollars a year in grants for 250,000 needy children, has been under fire. Opponents say some families get the money by fraud, and that the program fosters illegitimacy.

Brown, in his opening message to the legislature, called for action to eliminate chiseling in ANC and recommended that the counties be given "much-needed financial assistance to improve the quality of local administration of this program."

In most cases, he said, welfare departments are loaded down with too much other caseload work to give adequate time and attention to the needy children and opportunities for family rehabilitation.

The governor's memorandum gave this breakdown for the six-month costs of his other welfare proposals:

Increases in pensions to the needy aged and blind, $7,422,800.

Medical assistance to the chronically ill aged, 14 million dollars.

Increase in aid to the needy disabled, $1,036,200.

In addition, the memorandum listed $150,000 for a full year of grants for county services to older citizens.

The bill, by Assemblyman Vernon Kilpatrick (D-Lynwood) must now be approved by the Senate.

It gives state school bond money to impoverished school districts and is designed to take care of a heavy backlog of requests for construction money. The 30 million dollars will be in addition to the 12 million monthly in loans and grants under the state aid program.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Jan. 20, the 20th day of the year with 345 more in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1801, President John Adams appointed John Marshall to be chief justice of the Supreme Court.

In 1887, the Senate approved the leasing of Pearl Harbor as a base for the U.S. Navy.

In 1936, King George V of Great Britain died.

In 1937, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt was sworn into office for his second term.

A thought for today: American novelist Herman Melville said: "Thinking is, or ought to be, a coolness and a calmness; and our poor hearts throb, and our poor brains beat too much for that."

Kennedy Sworn In, Issues Peace Call

Mrs. Kennedy's eyes seldom left her husband as he spoke. She gazed at him with a smile of pride.

A roar went up as Kennedy finished his address. Rabbi Dr. Nelson Glueck of Cincinnati pronounced the benediction. The whole ceremony was over.

And John Fitzgerald Kennedy, who worked so long and relentlessly for this moment, now was face to face with literally a world of problems.

Tonight, the big inaugural ball will bring the festivities to a conclusion.

Kennedy stood bareheaded as he delivered his inaugural address from the open, windswept stand on the east side of the Capitol Building. The grounds were blanketed with eight inches of snow.

Kennedy had worked hard on his speech, hoping to make it a memorable American document. He pruned it down to 1,348 words, brief by presidential inauguration standards.

No inaugural address, and few presidential speeches at any time, ever were devoted so exclusively to foreign affairs.

The untiring Kennedy bounced out of bed this morning after only four hours of sleep and went to Mass at Holy Trinity church, where he has worshipped for the last eight years.

He arranged to go to the White House at 10:50 a.m., 20 minutes earlier than scheduled, to have coffee with President Eisenhower. The president telephoned and asked him to come early for the coffee before they started their ride to the inaugural ceremonies.

Kennedy and Eisenhower drove down a windswept Pennsylvania Avenue to the capitol, gleaming beautifully as a brilliant sun reflected on its cover of snow.

Eisenhower and Kennedy rode in a closed limousine with a "bubble top," transparent so that they could be seen by the shivering spectators.

Within an hour after Kennedy took the oath, his nominations to the 10 cabinet posts and of Adlai E. Stevenson to be U.S. ambassador to the United Nations had been submitted to the Senate. The Senate plans to vote on them tomorrow.

Marin Woman Describes Chilly D.C.

By ELAINE GUTHRIE

WASHINGTON — The worst snowstorm in the memory of the citizens of Washington hopelessly marooned thousands of convention visitors—including this reporter—on their way to parties and pre-inauguration events last night.

A fantastic traffic tangle ensued.

For example, Gov. Frank Church of Idaho said it took him six hours to travel 15 blocks to the governors' reception.

This reporter, on her way to a reception honoring Elizabeth Smith of Kentfield, the new treasurer of the United States, and J. Edward Day of Los Angeles, the new postmaster general, walked 15 blocks past miles of stalled cars and irate drivers to reach the Shoreham Hotel. Only a handful of stalwart guests reached the party. They included Rep. Clement W. Miller of Corte Madera and his wife, Katie, who had started out two hours before from their house in the suburbs.

Plans to attend the inaugural gala, and the inaugural concert were abandoned in favor of the nearest available housing.

Those who attended the concert reported the featured chorus had dwindled to five singers.

Guests were bedded where ever their cars — often not equipped for heavy snow—happened to be stalled.

The general morale of the thousands of visitors has not abated however. Spontaneous parties are spring up everywhere in the hotels.

AM, the most commonly employed form of radio transmission, stands for "amplitude modulation." It is limited in its reproduction, especially of high notes. It is also subject to static, including weather interference at times.

FM or "frequency modulation" is in the same spectrum as television and has no limits of dynamic intensity, with resultant high fidelity characteristics. It isn't influenced by static.

Before coming to San Rafael, Shirley was chamber of commerce manager in Fairfield. Earlier he was with the calendar sales division of Brown and Bigelow in St. Paul, and operated his own public relations firm there.

The Shirleys and their son and daughter plan to remain temporarily in Marinwood.

PARADE

stalled automobiles from the route.

The parade roster included 32,000 people, nearly twice as many as four years ago. Half the participants were military. There were over 40 bands — and a seemingly endless procession of drill teams.

J. Edward Day of Los Angeles, designated to be postmaster general, took his place with the new cabinet at the swearing-in ceremonies in front of the Capitol.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown headed California's section of the parade in the state's official salute to the new President.

California was in 31st place among the states, the order being based on their admission to the union.

California's section was filled out by bands, a Chinese Girl Drum Corps from San Francisco, and military bands from California bases.

The parade included rockets, the nose cone recovered from Discoverer XIV, tanks and guns, and the last of the Navy's PT boats of the type commanded by Kennedy in World War II.

Here to man it were eight of the original crew on Kennedy's craft, which was split and sunk by a Japanese destroyer.

ELECTED — J. B. Rice, San Rafael businessman and civic leader, yesterday was elected a vice president of the California State Automobile Assn. at its annual meeting in San Francisco. He has served on the board of directors since 1952. Elected president was S. V. Christierson of Salinas.

Mill Valley Unit Favors Bond Issue

Bonds are favored over a tax increase as a means of raising money for additional classrooms for the Mill Valley School District, the district's committee of 40 decided last night.

This recommendation will be given to the school board at its meeting Monday at 8 p.m. the board will also decide on whether the bond issue should be $400,000, $600,000 or $800,000, Asst. Supt. Leo B. Edson said.

The committee voted for bonds on all three sums the vote being as follows: $400,000, 19-9; $600,000, 21-8, and $800,000, 18-7. Edson said the members who voted "no" favored a tax increase.

Auto Tampering Bothers Club

The club is seeking a custodian to manage the clubhouse since John Furchak is retiring after 12 years in the job.

EX-MARINITE CHARGED

Wedding Invitation Leads To Indictment For Bigamy

A San Francisco civil engineer, who married two Marin women under two different names, then sent wife No. 1 an invitation to attend his wedding to No. 3 in San Francisco, was jailed on a bigamy charge today.

The Marin County Grand Jury last night voted an indictment against Richard Taylor Wilcox, 30, also known as Richard William Taylor, a former Marin resident now living at 2246 California Street, San Francisco.

His two wives told Assistant Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales and Investigator William Bemiss that it was bad enough to find they were married to the same man. But when wife No. 1 received a wedding announcement that Wilcox was about to marry No. 3 in San Francisco, "that was just too much."

They complained to the district attorney and managed to scuttle marriage No. 3.

Wilcox, alias Taylor, was freed from Marin County Jail today for $1,500. He is scheduled to appear in court at 1:30 p.m. next Tuesday.

Bales said the women gave this account of the tangled marital affairs of Wilcox:

Wife No. 1, Virginia, became Mrs. Wilcox in Reno in May of 1950. They had five children during their eight years of marriage. Virginia Wilcox lives in San Rafael.

She sued for divorce in 1958. But before the divorce came up in Marin Superior Court, Wilcox went to Reno again and married a woman named Jean under the name of Taylor. Then he showed up in Marin court and agreed to a default divorce from his first wife.

But before that divorce was final, wife No. 2 (Jean) decided to separate from him. She lives in Sausalito with their one child.

When she went to Marin Superior Court for a divorce last year, she learned that her husband was still in the process of getting his final decree from Mrs. Virginia Wilcox.

Then came the last straw when Mrs. Virginia Wilcox got a wedding announcement that Wilcox was to be married last Nov. 23 to a San Francisco woman.

Church Leader Asks Patience In Bias Row

Dr. Herman Turner, moderator of the United Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A., told an assembly at San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo today that in the problem of racial integration the church must be patient and benevolent—and it must not give up.

The speaker, former pastor for 31 years of the Covenant Presbyterian Church in Atlanta, Ga., said the whole problem in the South is the clash of resistance against change with the pressure for change.

He said that the only answer to this problem is the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

"It is not reported so much, but there are dedicated people in the South who are putting forth their best efforts to solve the problem," said Dr. Turner.

He said it is not widely known that the president and faculty of the University of Georgia have taken definite stands for token integration, and that many white girls consoled a Negro girl student after a recent race riot there.

Fire Ruins Marin Garage

The noise of exploding paint cans brought many residents out of their homes yesterday at 1:25 p.m. in Mill Valley's Sycamore Village, when a fire of undetermined origin started in the garage of Wilhelm Qvistgaard at 111 Sycamore Avenue.

Damage to the wall and roof was estimated at $700. The Quistgaards were not at home at the time.

Marine Station Gets Fund Grant

The University of the Pacific marine station at Dillon Beach has been awarded a National Science Foundation grant for the third year for a summer research program.

This year's $13,000 grant will back research by six to eight "highly qualified students," Dr. Joel Hedgpeth, director of the station, explained. Students will participate in a 10-week study program centering on Tomales Bay and including biological and hydrographic survey of the bay, seminars and individual study. Most students will have at least a master's degree in science.

Deadline for applications for the course is Feb.1 5. The session is directed by Hedgpeth and Dr. Ralph Johnson of University of Chicago.

Otis A. Kendrick Gets Lodge Honor

Otis A. Kendrick, a San Rafael resident for 50 years and now living at 45 Ross Street, was installed as president of the Keystone York Rite Assn. at a dinner last night at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito.

Many friends from the Bay area were present, including members of Royal Arch Masons and the commanderies of Knights Templar.

Kendrick was graduated from San Rafael grammar and high schools and operated the first film theater in San Rafael, the Victory Theater. He was later with the El Camino Theater. Joining the commercial department of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., he served 17 years before retirement.

Burning Auto Goes To Station

San Rafael firemen answered the doorbell at the main fire station yesterday to greet a distraught Fairfax woman who said the front seat of her auto was smoking.

Mrs. George Bailey, 44 Bolinas Road, drove her car right in front of the firehouse at Fifth Avenue and C street to make the report.

2 Collisions At Same Spot; Drivers Hurt

Two drivers suffered minor injuries in two separate collisions an hour and 40 minutes apart yesterday at the same intersection, Highway 101 and Entrada Drive at Ignacio.

Frank Leroy Darblay, 68-year-old retired army man from the Yountville Veterans Hospital, was driving south at 4:10 p.m. as S/Sgt. William Conley Holley, 28, of headquarters 28th Air Division, Hamilton Air Force Base, resident of 607 Norman Drive, Novato, emerged from Entrada into his path. The signal light was changing.

Darblay, braking and skidding, struck the Holley car. Holley was treated at the base hospital for cuts and bruises on head and shoulder.

A similar collision with changing signal light occurred at 5:50 p.m. when James Steven Roberts of 7505 Redwood Highway, Novato, a shop foreman, approaching from the north, struck a car emerging from Entrada driven by Vasily Vasilevich Busygin of Sonoma. Roberts was cut and bruised but said he would see his own doctor.

Bad Check Laid To Alien, 28

Kurt Anton Schreiber, former owner of two foreign car repair shops in San Rafael, was arrested by San Rafael police last night on a petty theft charge.

The 28-year-old German alien is accused of passing a bogus $145 check at the Gasoteria service station at Second Street and Lincoln Avenue last June 17, police said.

Schreiber was arrested at his home, 34 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, by Sgt. Lincoln Borba at 9 p.m. He was booked in the county jail and released on $525 bail to appear Tuesday for arraignment.

Police said Schreiber formerly operated Kurt's Foreign Car Repair at 17 Lovell Street and 423 Francisco Boulevard. They said he is now working for an Oakland company.

Drunk Driver Gets $158 Fine

Robert Keskula, 30, of 821 Estancia Way, San Rafael, drew a $158 fine and six months probation yesterday for drunken driving.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him for driving while intoxicated on Highway 101 last Nov. 23.

Donald Benjamin Alfreds, 47, of Santa Clara, must pay a $184 fine and remain on probation for six months. Alfreds was arrested on Highway 101 last Sept. 23.

Hub Chamber Told Benefits Of Bay Plan

The benefits of a Golden Gate Authority were outlined to almost 100 members of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce last night by Leo H. Strauss of San Rafael, vice chairman of the Golden Gate Authority Commission.

Strauss was the main speaker at the chamber's annual installation dinner-meeting held at the Buon Gusto Villa restaurant in Fairfax.

An authority consolidating all the Bay Area's bridges, airports, seaports and related facilities could build more bridges as needed from the revenues of all the bridges, Strauss said.

With the Golden Gate Bridge already at capacity during peak hours, a new bridge is going to be needed to serve Marin County, he added.

Needless duplication of the San Francisco and Oakland airports could be eliminated, he explained by having one serve only air freight and the other only passenger service.

Master of ceremonies Eugene A. Ostaggi installed new president John C. Phillips, two other officers and seven new directors.

Police Question Attack Suspects

San Rafael police questioned half a dozen possible suspects yesterday in connection with the rape of an 18-year-old, pregnant, San Anselmo housewife on Wednesday night. None was held.

Several were to be questioned today. Capt. Joseph Brusatori said his officers interrogated persons fitting the rapist's description who were known to be in East San Rafael on Wednesday night, and former sex criminals.

The girl said she was raped in a dimly lit walkway next to 140 Front Street about 11:30 p.m.

Sewage Pollution Abatement Told

Detailed plans for improvement of Belvedere for transport of sewage to the Tiburon Sanitary District plant are now 50 per cent completed, according to the seventh quarterly progress report submitted by Belvedere to a meeting of Regional Water Pollution Control Board No. 2 in Oakland yesterday.

Land has been acquired for construction of a pumping station to deliver the sewage to Tiburon, the report said.

Roger James, assistant engineer for the board, commented that it is apparent the city is properly complying with an order to cease discharge of raw sewage into waters of Richardson Bay as instructed by the board.

A report was due on progress in abating sewage from "arks," but could not be submitted in time.

HANLEY

PEBBLE BEACH—As he has done for many years now, Lawson Little stepped from his home fronting Pebble Beach's first fairway today and joined the Crosby Invitational gallery.

Much mellower than when he was a fierce match play competitor three decades ago, Little now smiles easily. In his competitive days, Little wore a frown of concentration on the golf course except the final hole when he usually accepted congratulations.

In 1934-35 he was congratulated by vanquished foes in 31 consecutive matches that led to his never-equalled double-double sweep of the British and U. S. Amateur Championships.

He best remembers and cherishes his first big win in 1934 when he overwhelmed a Scotch carpenter named James Wallace 14 and 13 on Prestwick's windswept dunes for the Britsh amateur crown.

"Yes," he said as he fell in with the Crosby gallery, "the first one is the big one. That was the year I was on the Walker Cup team. My goal was to make a good showing in the Cup matches and, if possible, to win two or three matches in the British Amateur to justify the faith the USGA placed in me."

LITTLE WAS as ruthless and brutal in his disposal of Wallace as Jack Dempsey ever was when he was the Manassa Mauler of the ring.

It was on this same Pebble Beach course in 1929 that Little first received national attention. He was 19 that year when Bobby Jones, who one year later was to achieve his incredible Grand Slam, was eliminated in the first round of the U. S. Amateur. Johnny Goodman, conqueror of the king in the opening round, then was put out by Little in the second round.

FOR FIVE years Little was saddled with the title of "the guy who beat the guy who beat Jones." He was a boomer with the woods in those days, delighting in the "ohs-and-ahs" his big smashes drew from the galleries. And with the vanity of youth he used to underclub his irons, trying for the necessary distance with a club not designed for it by playing the ball back of his right foot.

Then, in 1934 Little received some instructions from Tommy Armour on how irons should be played for true distance and accuracy. Thereafter, Little was on his way and no other amateur could stop him for two years and in 1936 they no longer had a chance because that was the year he turned pro.

What's the toughest hole he ever played?

"Cypress' 16th," he said without hesitation. "Not only for me but every golfer who has ever faced it. It's a holy terror, the most terrifying hole of all golf courses."

Place Kicker

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — After its first seven touchdowns in 1960, North Carolina failed to get an extra point. Then fullback Bob Elliott took over and booted nine extra points in NC's final five games.

Ex-Gridder Shoots 66 To Lead Crosby Event

But watch out for Bob Goalby in 1961!

Goalby, a former University of Illinois quarterback, now playing out of Crystal River, Fla., won $7,500 for capturing the Los Angeles Open to start this year, and picked up another $550 in the San Diego Open last week.

And, he goes into the second round of the $50,000 Bing Crosby National Pro-Amateur today holding a one-stroke lead over the field after one of the greatest finishes ever seen on a golf course.

Goalby, one over par after 12 holes, went seven under par on the next six with six birdies and an eagle for a great 66 on the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course.

"I was just trying to shoot a 70 after I was one over par at 12," said Goalby later. "I figured that was about the best I could do.

"But, man, what a finish. I've never had anything like it before." Big Bob, even with his fine shot-making, was only one stroke ahead of the crack field. Defending Champion Ken Venturi, Palo Alto; Dave Hill, Denver, Colo.; Bill Collins, Crystal River, Fla., and Howie Johnson, Lemont, Ill., each had 67's.

The golfers had the benefit of the finest weather in the 20-year history of the Crosby clambake. The sun shone, there was scarcely the trace of a breeze in the air and the thermometer ran around 70.

This was the type of weather the professionals had asked for—one crack at Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and the Country Club when the sun was shining, no rain and little wind. But it didn't help some.

SCORES SOAR

The once-great Byron Nelson had a 76; so did Jack Fleck; Mike Souchak had a 77; Vic Ghezzi and Frank Stranahan, 78s; Gay Brewer had an 80, and George Fazio, an 84.

Closer to the pack, Dave Ragan, Orlando, Fla.; Jackie Burke, Houston, Tex.; Jerry Barber, Los Angeles, had 68's. Palmer had a fine 70—despite some trouble off the tee.

But Goalby was the big gun. Here's what he did on the last six holes:

14—Birdie two with four-foot putt.

18—Birdie four with seven-foot putt.

And that kind of golf is hard to beat.

Leading in the pro-am after the first round were two teams with best-ball scores of 60—Dow Finsterwald and Fred Kammer of Grosse Point Farms, Mich., and Jack Burke with George Coleman Jr., of Palm Beach, Fla. The amateur's handicaps are figured in the pro-amateur scoring.

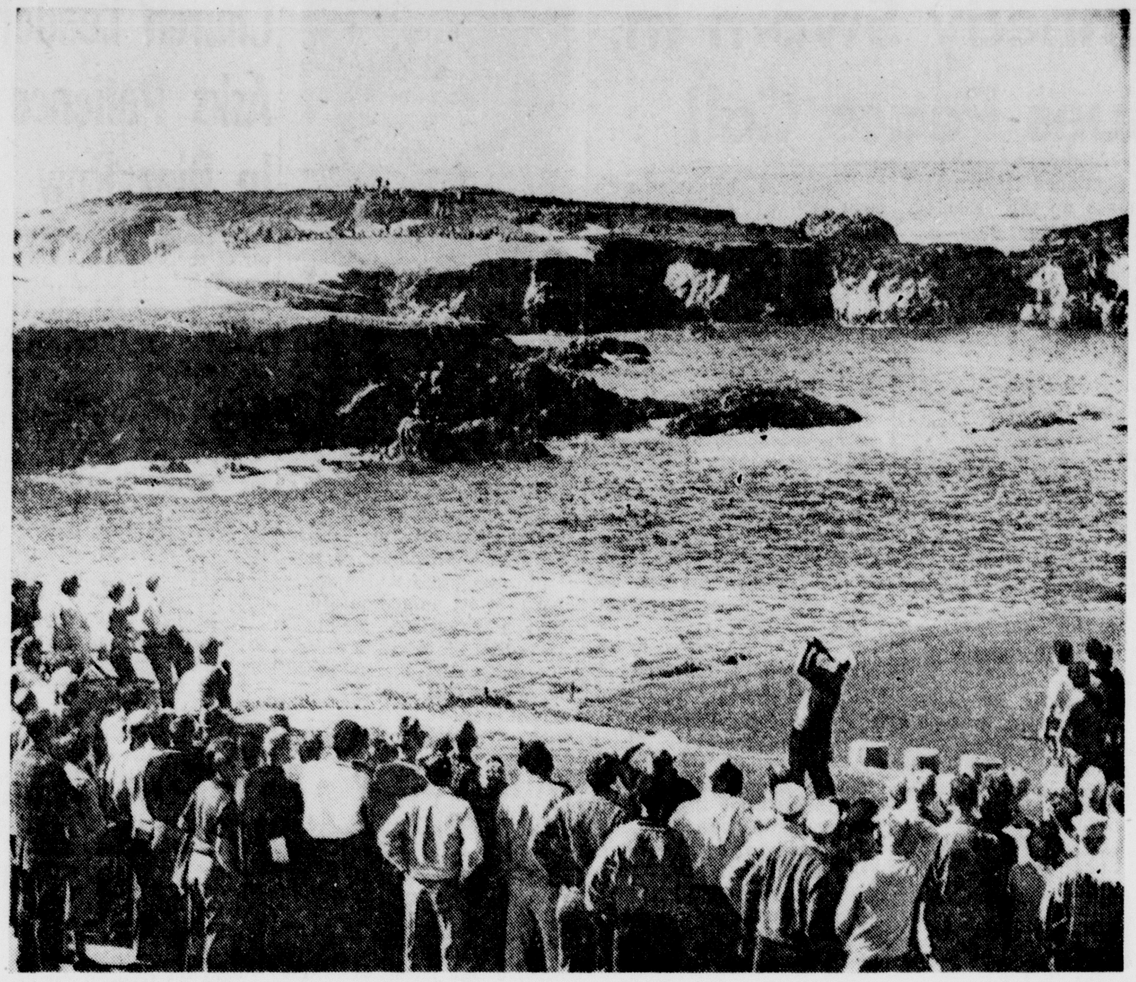

MEADOW CLUB PRO FIRES 74 IN TOURNEY

That is eight strokes off the pace of 66 set by Bob Goalby. Silva had 37 on each nine.

Marin's other pro entry in the Crosby, George Splane of the Marin Golf Club, didn't fare so well. His 37-49—85 placed him next to last in the field of 150.

In pro-amateur competition Silva and partner Elmo Brock turned in a card of 35-37—72 and Splane and Jim Backus had a 39-39—76, last in the field.

Marin Catholic-Redwood In Prep Game Of Week Tonight

"It's a tossup," declared Redwood High School Coach Dick Hart.

"We should win," countered Marin Catholic's Bernie Schneider.

They were commenting on tonight's "Game of the Week" between those nearby rivals as the Marin County Athletic League race enters its third week of action.

Redwood, currently in first place with Tamalpais with a 2-0 record, can breath easier than Marin for the Giants still would be very much in contention even in defeat.

Marin, now 1-1, rates this as a must win game. "It's one we have to win," said Schneider. He acknowledged that Redwood "will be high for us, but we should win, I think."

Hart stated, "On Marin's over-all record, they should be favored, but we've gained a lot of momentum by winning five straight games and our kids will be fighting to keep that streak alive."

Elsewhere tonight the Tam Indians (2-0) battle the Pirates (0-2) at Drake and San Rafael (1-1) hosts Novato (0-2).

All programs start with Class B games at 7 o'clock. The B tilt at Drake should be a good one as the little Pirates and Tam are tied for the lead with 2-0 records.

HOFFMAN HURT

At Redwood, the Giants will be without the full-time services of first string forward Mike Hoffman, the league's second leading scorer, due to a knee injury. He will be replaced by Hep Wilkins, a six-footer.

The balance of Redwood's starting unit will be Rich Brear at forward, Mike Kavanagh center and John Whitney and Roger Siemens guards.

Schneider announced one change in his starting team. John Enos has earned a starting berth at forward in place of Chris Ahern. "Enos has looked especially sharp in recent games," said the coach.

MARIN LINEUP

Balance of Marin's lineup will be Ed O'Connell, Jim Soden, Gary Ragghianti and Jerry Smith.

Tamalpais, meanwhile, learned bad news this week when it was announced that star forward Conrad Hoetger has a blood clot in his leg and definitely is out of tonight's game at Drake. He will be replaced by Dennis Langhoff on the starting team.

Chamberlain Big Hero In Warrior Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach Neil Johnston today took stock of the National Basketball Assn. race and his own Philadelphia Warriors club which is in second place in the Eastern Division, three games behind Boston.

"I think we're very much in the thick of the race," said Johnston after the Warriors had defeated Western Division leader St. Louis 129-127 on a field goal and a free throw by Wilt Chamberlain with 46 seconds remaining. Chamberlain was high for the Warriors with 39 points but Bob Pettit of the Hawks took game honors with 42.

"I don't think Boston has an insurmountable lead," the Warriors' coach said.

Boston, in the first game of the Convention Hall doubleheader, maintained its lead by beating the Los Angeles Lakers 106-103 with the clincher coming on Tom Heinsohn's field goal with 1:06 remaining after the Celtics had blown a 15-point lead. Heinsohn and Bob Cousy shared scoring honors for the Celtics with 22 points each. Elgin Baylor was high for the Lakers with 29.

In the only other NBA game action last night, New York handed Cincinnati its seventh loss in the last eight games, 129-122, and dropped the Royals into third place in the Western Division.

Julian Javier, a St. Louis rookie who played 119 games last season, paced National Leaguers in sacrifice bunts with 15.

KTIM Schedules Cage Broadcasts

Live broadcasts of Marin County high school athletics will resume on Radio KTIM next Tuesday with the basketball game between Marin Catholic and San Rafael, KTIM Sports Director Ted Mitchell announced.

Mitchell and Karl Barron will voice the play-by-play account as another in the series of 15 contests presented by the KTIM Sportsmen's Club, a group of 10 Marin businessmen devoted to furthering high school sports activities.

NRA Safety Class Delayed To Jan. 31

National Rifle Assn. hunter safety course, originally scheduled to start this week at College of Marin, has been postponed because of the college gymnasium's condemnation as a fire hazard, Director George Finney announced yesterday.

Temporary classroom work for the safety course has been scheduled for Jan. 31 at the Marin Rod and Gun Club building at Pt. San Quentin. Shooting stages later in the course are tentatively scheduled at the San Rafael police range, Finney said.

Eric Guerin is the last jockey to win the Delaware Handicap twice. He won with Busanda in 1951 and with Parlo in 1955.

Novatan Crusading For Addition Of Wrestling To Marin Prep Athletics

By PAUL MILLER

The Marin pioneer of amateur wrestling is still pioneering.

He is Novato High School's wrestling coach and physical educational teacher Ralph Cutler, who feels the most important aspect of wrestling is what it can do for the physical and character development of young men.

One fall afternoon seven years ago, with only a dream in his head and two gymnastic mats in his possession, Cutler began to organize in Marin one of the oldest and most respected contact sports in the history of man.

The two mats for two years were placed each school week on the grounds at Marion Elementary School where Cutler instructed some 25 elementary pupils in the ancient skill during an after-school-activity program.

This humble beginning was the first step in Cutler's hope to have wrestling included as a part of Marin County Athletic League's inter-high school activities.

By slow, careful and persistent effort, Cutler has begun to build realities from his dream. This year, 45 athletes turned out for the Novato High wrestling team and two other Marin high schools, San Rafael and Tamalpais, began formation of wrestling teams.

Not only are coaches Pete Belden of Tam and Larry Lack of San Rafael helping to establish the sport in Marin, but fringe-county high schools have expressed an interest. Petaluma High School's principal asked the Novato coach to send an exhibition team to stimulate interest at that school.

EXHIBITIONS

Cutler's younger wrestlers have also given exhibition matches for Parent Teachers Associations in Marin. A running explanation of the sport is included in an effort to inform parents.

"We are anxious to give exhibits to any groups that are interested in gaining a knowledge of true wrestling, as contrasted to TV wrestling," said Cutler.

In 1955, when Novato High was established with 90 students, one of the school's five original teachers was Cutler. The next year he started a small wrestling team at the high school.

The coach, as he has each year since the team was formed, contacted coaches at Bay Area schools which had wrestling teams and requested matches for his boys.

Other coaches were glad to help out the new team and its first year it had matches with strong contenders like Pacific High School in San Francisco the California School for the Blind at Berkeley and Pittsburgh High.

The second year Sonoma High was added to the list, and now among other, Mount Diablo and San Ramon high schools in Contra Costa County have become competitors.

It takes time to develop a wrestler because he usually starts from scratch, unlike football or basketball players. The first fruit of the Novato team bore in 1957 when Paul Hughes captured a third place in his class at the North Bay Novice Tournament.

Last year, Cutler's strugglers brought back two firsts and a second place ribbon from the novice tournament after wrestling their way through four matches from mid-morning until 7 p.m.

TOP PROSPECTS

Those winners are expected to do well as representatives in the North Coast Sectional Tournament this year. They are Walt Halcovich, who was first in the NBNT 112-pound class, and Bob Remley and Steve Barrett, who were first and second, respectively, in the 165-pound section. Also expected to excell is George Van Dyke, who will be eligible for the novice tournament tomorrow.

Those who have either wrestled a year and are above the junior class in high school, or have placed in any organized match are ineligible for the novice tournament, explained Cutler.

The Novato coach feels that wrestling is important in high school, among other reasons, because it "allows youngsters who like contact sports, but are too light for football, a chance to compete with boys their own size" and on their own terms.

Cutler is a varsity wrestler from the City College of New York where he graduated in 1939 and took his Master's Degree in physical education the following year. After serving in the Army in Europe during World War II, he taught wrestling at Champlain College in New York. He is quick to point out after these years of experience, that even though wrestling is a contact sport, it is not injury prone.

LIMITED INJURIES

"It is, of course, a rough sport and there are injuries in any sport. Let our record speak for itself—we have had only two injuries in four years of competition," he said.

Tam's coach, Belden, is actu-

Wildlife Group Loudly Opposes State Deer Management Program

STEVENS

Loud are the lamentations emanating from the members of the Northern Counties Wildlife Conservation Assn. in Redding. We set forth herewith the reason thereof in the form of a release received in our mali today. We remain strictly neutral on the subject, but figure our readers should know what's afoot Here's the communique:

REDDING — Several proposed important changes in the California deer management plan were under attack today.

The changes involve range improvement, predator control, game refuges and the so-called "Texas Plan" for doe shooting on private lands.

The proposals are being made to the State Legislature by a group appointed by Assemblywoman Pauline Davis: The Citizens Advisory Committee on Big Game.

A leader of the attack on the recommendations is Charles Bull, president of the N.C.W.C.A. He and several committee members resigned last year in protest against the committee practices. He has been joined by Dr. J. M. Kolisch, president of the Pines to Palms Wildlife Committee of California.

THE ADVISORY committee's recommendations include:

1—No attempt should be made at range improvement. If more browse is provided for deer, it will be immediately damaged and there will be more die-offs, the committee says.

2—Abolition of all game refuges.

3—Doing away with predator control unless more deer are harvested.

4—Adoption of the "Texas Plan." Under this program state game managers would survey the property of any rancher who wants doe killing permits. The State would then sell doe stamps to these ranchers who in turn would sell them back to the hunters, who would attach the stamps to their buck tags and tie them onto the does' ears.

5—Allow killing of all spikehorn bucks as part of doe hunts.

IN A JOINT statement, Bull and Dr. Kolisch said: "If these recommendations are followed, California's deer herds will be wiped out within the next 10 years. The deer won't be helped, but there will be a lot more jobs for F&G employees.

"How many more people will have to be hired to make these 'Texas Plan' surveys?

"If the spike deer are killed off, where will next year's buck crop come from?

"Is the committee saying that with more browse and improved ranges, hunting would not also improve?

"They say predators eat only sick or old animals. Do they think predators do not eat fawns?

"They say there are enough state and federal parks to provide refuges. We all know large areas with no such parks where deer can find some protection.

"This is a destructive program, aimed at helping the F&G build up its biggest revenue—the sale of hunting licenses. The people of California had better get in touch with their legislators if our deer herds are to be saved."

AS I HAVE said, I am neutral. There are always two sides to a story. I'd like to see the other side before making a decision. How do you feel about it?

BASS FISHING in the Red Rock area (trolling) slowed down to a slow walk on Tuesday and Wednesday. Maybe because of the minus tides. Some fair to good results were had on bait off California City. It also slowed down somewhat but with normal tides again, we may expect improvement.

CONNOLLY

Just the other night I was talking to my Uncle Mike about professional boxing and I asked him about the fifth bout of Sugar Ray Robinson and the champion Fullmer, scheduled for Las Vegas March 4.

What Uncle said was terrible and he slammed on his hat and scrammed. Yesterday, after they hauled him back, he was still upset.

"What business has a box fighter being a rasslin' guy?" asked Uncle Mike. "I thought they were supposed to fight like men."

"Fighters are supposed to do one thing—throw punches. And by gosh, Fullmer hugs, rassles, elbows, knees and does everything except fight. And they still rate him champion. I wouldn't pay a nickel to see him hanged."

It's a silly thing to say, but Fullmer, in my book, never was and never should have been anything else but a grave digger, horse shoer or piano mover. If he should start bopping me, I'd still say that Fullmer wasn't even a good Pickles Martin type of fighter.

UNLESS YOU happen to have an interest in night movies or theatricals or rum joints, you'll admit night racing is for the best interests of the State of California. The state gets a good "cut" of receipts.

All you have to do is remember how the theaters fought night baseball when it started. They soon quieted down and night baseball today is the saviour of the game.

Take dog racing. I was there when it began at Compton in southern California. It went over with a bang despite a terrific campaign to undermine the sport.

And now comes a clamor for night horse racing. I don't care when it starts, or if it starts, but let me tell you when it does it'll be a grand success. People now are accustomed to night sports and hot or cold, wind or no wind, the sports crowd likes it.

I don't care whether it is harness racing, dog racing or thoroughbred racing, the night time racket will boost it 100 per cent.

A STRONG S. F. Giant baseball fan accosted me the other day and threw a bomb-shell at me.

"Why don't the Giants trade Willie Mays? They'd get a bundle of talent, escape a helluva big salary and get rid of a guy who has to be on the way down."

I couldn't agree with him because I think Willie Mays has six or seven more years of top flight performance. He's not yet 30 years of age and a hustling, fighting, gifted performer.

To lose Mays, the Giants would have to get almost an entire new ball club of promising youngsters. And no ball player, even Mays, could entice a club like the Yankees or the White Sox to part with six or seven top flight guys to get Willie. After all, when they got Willie, they'd have nothing left to support him.

He had a chance to coach for Bill Rigney with the L. A. Angels in the newly-formed American League entry.

But "Rig" didn't get the job soon enough, so Posedel grabbed the first job he was sure of getting.

Soon after Posedel signed with the Cleveland Indians as scout, he was offered a job with Rigney. He had to refuse.

Cleveland made no mistake about it, signed Posedel because they knew he knew whether Johnny Antonelli was "through" or okay.

Posedel recommended Antonelli as a fit pitcher and today he has a job with Cleveland. But his heart still remains with the Giants. Had Posedel been more of a positive guy, rather than a "policy guy," he would today have been head pitching coach. But he was loyal to Rigney and went down to the bottom with his former boss.

Keg Tourney To Benefit 'Dimes' Drive

Novato Junior Chamber of Commerce will stage a handicap bowling tournament at Nave Lanes, Jan. 30 through Feb. 3, of the New March of Dimes drive, it was announced today.

The tournament, open only to league bowlers and sanctioned by the Marin County A.B.C. and W.I.B.C., will take place during league play. Participation by the league bowlers will be voluntary. Entry fee is $1 with 50 cents of each entry going to the New March of Dimes Campaign. The remaining 50 cents will be used in a prize pool. Ten cash prizes will be awarded.

The handicaps will be 75 per cent of the difference between the bowler's average and 200. The highest known Blue Book average of 1959-60 season or the average of at least 21 games prior to Jan. 1 will be used.

San Rafael Lad Presented High Tennis Honor

The Northern California Lawn Tennis Assn. honored 14-year-old Harvey Klyce of San Rafael High School as winner of the "Outstanding Sportsmanship Award" for 1960. He received a beautiful plaque for the honor, according to his coach, Fred Hines. The award was announced at the association's 65th annual meeting.

FINE SPORTSMAN

Klyce's sportsmanship in tournaments was noted above that of all other boys in all age groups in the association, Hines stated. "He's a tremendous sportsman," Hines added. "He almost bends over backwards trying to be fair. I think he's so fair that sometimes he cheats himself."

Klyce is third ranked in boys 15 and under age bracket for northern California and 11th in the 18 and under division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey L. Klyce of 425 Mission Avenue, San Rafael.

Held, Three Others Sign With Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today received four more signed contracts for the 1961 baseball season, including those from slugging shortstop Woodie Held and catcher John Romano.

Other signers were pitchers Mike Lee and catcher Valmy Thomas, bringing to 24 those in the Indians' fold.

Thomas was drafted in November as a second-string receiver behind Romano. He played previously in the majors with the San Francisco Giants and Baltimore Orioles.

Lee is a 19-year-old left-hander who was drafted in 1959 from the Giants' organization. He appeared in only seven games and pitched nine innings for Cleveland in 1960.

Stanford, Washington Fight For Survival

By UP INTERNATIONAL

Stanford and Washington begin their fight for survival at Stanford tonight with the winners sure to be idle Southern California and UCLA.

The Bruins (3-1) and Trojans (4-0) pretty well dominate the Big Five. California (0-4) is pretty well finished while Washington (1-3) needs two wins against the fast-improving Cards to stay in the race. Stanford (1-0) is strictly a dark horse, and also needs a couple of wins from the Huskies.

Other games in a light schedule pit Idaho-Oregon State, Washington State-Oregon and Seattle-Gonzaga.

The Huskies feature big Bill Hanson, a 6-8 junior described by many as the most improved player on the Pacific Coast. Hanson has averaged 13.9 points in 11 games. Clint Names is right behind with 12.7.

DEADEYE SHOOTERS

Hanson has scored half his shots from the floor—51 in 102 tries. Names, another deadeye, has bucketed 46 per cent from the floor and 80 per cent from the free throw line.

Stanford's Indians, 5-7 overall, are rough at home. Bill Hendry, a senior forward who has been oustanding defensively for three seasons, seems to be coming into his own as a scorer. He led the Indians to their upset over California at Berkeley last week and shone in the two games Stanford split at Oregon.

Washington comes in averaging 60.6 points a game. Only two clubs have scored that well against Stanford. One, Michigan State, did it in a double overtime contest which the Indians won 81-80.

Olympic Hurdler Signs With Dallas Cowboys In NFL

DALLAS (AP)—Olympic medal winner Dick Howard, who now lives in Los Angeles, has signed to play with the Dallas Cowboys in the National Football League.

Tex Schramm, general manager, today reported the Cowboys have signed as free agents both Howard, a 6-foot-2, 190-pound speedster who was a University of New Mexico track star, and Lenny Verner, a 6-foot-3, 225-pound Texas Christian University linebacker from Commerce, Tex.

Howard was 400-meter hurdles champion of both the NCAA and the AAU in 1959

At New Mexico, Howard set school records of 9.6 seconds in the 100-yard dash, 14.2 in the high hurdles, 22.2 in the low hurdles and 50.5 in the 440 hurdles.

Marin Rifle Club Competes In S.F.

Fifteen boys and girls of the Marin Rod and Gun Club's Junior Rifle Club will compete in matches at Sharps Park, San Francisco, Sunday, it was announced today.

They will shoot for both individual and team honors. Firing will commence at 9 a.m.

Tam, San Rafael Join Novato In Wrestling

ally a gridiron expert, is line coach for the Indians, as well as a history teacher. His wrestling background amounts to intra-mural events at Fresno State College and wrestling courses he took there.

"If enthusiasm counts," said Belden," the team and I are more than qualified in wrestling."

San Rafael's grunters, like Tam's, are now in a period of development which amounts mostly to after-school workouts with competition to come in a year or so. The Bulldog coach Larry Lack is a San Jose State alumnus. It is his first year at San Rafael where he teaches Life Science and is the school's new swim coach as well.

Athletic director and physical education department head Angelo Colombo said Bulldog wrestlers work out two nights a week under Lack's supervision.

"I'm very pleased that we have a program underway, and I am anxious to see this fine sport (wrestling) established as a regular on athletic schedules," said the director, adding some more of that stuff called "reality" to Cutler's dream for sporting Marin.

Ingo, Floyd Finally Sign For Return Bout March 13

NEW YORK (AP) — Ingemar Johansson is looking for a training camp in Florida and Floyd Patterson is ready to begin bearing down at his Spring Valley, N.Y. quarters now that the financial details for their March 13 fight in Miami Beach have been settled.

Johansson and Patterson signed an agreement yesterday to box for the third time in the Convention Hall at Miami Beach, having already entered into satisfactory agreements with Feature Sports, Inc., the promoters. Each signed for himself.

The agreements call for Patterson and Johansson each to get 25 per cent of the live fight gate. After the closed circuit TV firm takes its cut, Patterson will get 50 per cent, Johansson 35 per cent and Feature Sports 15 per cent of the ancillary rights to theater TV, movies, radio and so on.

Roy Cohn, a director of Feature Sports, predicted the fight would gross $5,000,000 from all sources. Their second fight last June 20 brought in close to $3,500,000. He said the advance ticket orders were about $230,000 and pointed out that the radio rights, sold for some $300,000, brought almost twice as much as the rights for their last bout.

Johansson optimistically figured his end would be about $1 million and Patterson, more conservative, guessed his gross would be around $800,000.

One complication that had held up the actual signing for the fight, announced before Christmas, was Patterson's insistence that there be no segregation at the arena. He had both verbal and written assurance from the city of Miami Beach, plus a $10,000 bond deposited by the promoters to guarantee it.

The champ, first man ever to win back the heavyweight title, said he weighed 198 as compared to 190 for his last fight.

"I expect to be about the same as last time," he said. "I don't expect to change anything."

"I know changing styles is dangerous," he said. "But if you can make it better it is good for you."

He said he weighed 205 pounds as compared to 194¾ last June.

Sugar Ray, Busy In Courts, Postpones Title Go Again

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who has a long record of title fight postponements, is getting another one.

Promoters Jack Doyle and Mel Greb said Robinson was unable to get started with his training because of two court actions in the East.

In recent weeks Robinson has been involved in a paternity suit brought by a New York woman. Yesterday he won a federal court decision over Nicholas Troilo, who sued Sugar Ray for $75,000, charging he reneged on an agreement to fight Fullmer in 1956 under Troilo's promotion.

Robinson is scheduled to fly from New York to Los Angeles Saturday, then go into his training camp at San Jacinto, where he worked for his Dec. 3 bout with Fullmer. That one ended in a draw.

Anglers Hook A Doe

PITTSBURG LANDING, Tenn. (AP)—Two anglers from Corinth, Miss., landed one of the biggest catches ever made on Pickwick Lake. It weighed 80 pounds.

After hauling their catch into a small boat, Terry McCormick and Evan Tindle returned to shore and released it. Their catch was a frightened doe that had been out for a swim.

Planning Council Revived At Meeting

The Marin County Planning Council, moribund for nearly two years, came back to life last night, elected officers and dedicated itself for 1961 to a program of "dynamic conservation."

About 60 persons attended the reorganization dinner meeting at the Alta Mira Hotel in Sausalito. They were imbued with enthusiasm for the conservation approach by speeches by Daniel Coleman, San Francisco engineer, and Proctor Mellquist, editor of Sunset Magazine and member of the Los Altos Hills Planning Commission.

Felix M. Warburg, Belvedere architect and member of the county planning commission, was elected president; Harley McAskill of the Novato Planning Commission, vice president, and Mrs. Mary Summers, county planning director, secretary-treasurer.

"Dynamic conservation is our greatest task," declared Warburg. He announced the next meeting will be held April 27.

Coleman and Mellquist emphasized that Marin is facing growing problems with the incursion of development into its steeper hills.

Coleman offered several approaches to hillside subdivision which, he said, are proving useful in keeping development costs down to where the developer "can make a dollar" and at the same time preserving as much as possible of the natural terrain and ground cover.

One such move is proposed in a San Geronimo Valley development, he said. Septic tanks are proposed there, and one reason, said Coleman, is that the necessity for cutting to assure gravity flow of sewer lines is thereby eliminated. This makes it simpler to design streets to follow the terrain and reduces hillside cuts, he explained.

Another help, said Coleman, is concentrating apartments or groups of houses on knolls, hilltops and in little draws, to avoid cutting the slopes—arriving at the same per-acre density for the whole development as with large hillside lots that require much greater cuts.

He also suggested wider use of split-level streets, and said his company prefers "to put golf courses or something in the bottom and develop the hills" instead of filling the valley full of homes and eventually having more homes built up the hillsides with no scenic vista remaining.

A gimmick being tried in some places, said Coleman, is installation of a steel or aluminum frame on each hillside lot which is designed to hold a house. The lot is then sold with the frame in place, ready for building without any excavation.

Mellquist showed a series of colored slides of hillside developments in the Bay Area, ranging from huge raw cuts in northern San Mateo County to Sausalito itself, with its winding narrow streets concealed among the trees.

"We couldn't build a place like Sausalito now," he commented. "Present laws wouldn't let us." But, he said, visitors consider it one of the most beautiful communities in America, and for all its headaches with the narrow streets, "I doubt if we have found anything better."

Mellquist showed a steep hill on the Stanford University lands in Santa Clara County that was recently rezoned for industry—the first instance, he said, of industry invading the hills in this area. The entire hill will have to be leveled.

Council Faces Frozen Assets

The Marin County Planning Council has $622 in the bank, but how to get it out is a problem.

The bank account is set up with a proviso that two of the three officers of the council must sign all checks. The bank's records show the officers as those in office in April, 1959, when the council went into a two-year sleep. They are: Lee Busolo, president; Mrs. Margaret Azevedo, vice president, and Stuart Bailey, secretary.

Busolo is still active on the San Anselmo Planning Commission. But Mrs. Azevedo, former county planning commissioner, is in Europe, and Bailey, former San Rafael planner, long since moved to Orange County.

Ship Sinks; 12 Safe

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—All 12 crewmen were reported safe after the sinking of a small British freighter in waters between Cuba and the Florida Keys.

The 141-foot ship, the Caribbean Queen, flashed an SOS at 5:30 p.m. yesterday. The Coast Guard said it had been unable to learn why the vessel sank.

OUT OF THE ASHES—This sketch by designers Edward Hageman and Associates of a building now being constructed for Joseph E. Rice at 10 Auburn Street, San Rafael, adjoining the J. B. Rice Supply Co., is almost identical to one Rice plans for 428 Francisco Boulevard where a two-story structure housing O'Neill and Logan Hardware and other tenants was destroyed by fire last August. Plans for rebuilding have been delayed by a proposal to utilize some of the property in widening Highway 101.

Plans For Replacing Burned Building Told

The charred remains still standing on the site of the fire last Aug. 26 at 428 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael, may soon be replaced with a modern, one-story structure if property owner Joseph B. Rice is allowed to carry out his plans for rebuilding.

In a move to bring matters to a head on whether land along Francisco Boulevard is to be taken by the state for highway widening, Rice has applied for a permit at the burned-out spot. It will be considered by the San Rafael Planning Commission next Tuesday night.

Rice also plans a similar building at Francisco Boulevard and Auburn Street, just outside the San Rafael city limits. His application for architectural supervision is to be considered by the Marin County Planning Commission on Monday. It is item No. 22 on an agenda beginning at 9 a.m.

Rice already has one such building under construction at 10 Auburn Street near the J. B. Rice Supply Co. This and the proposed Auburn and Francisco building are identical in detail—100 by 280-foot one-story structures with concrete block pillars and walls, and full glass fronts. They have been designed for wide roof overhang, walkways and parking facilities completely around the perimeters.

The building proposed for the burned-out site at 428 Francisco Boulevard is of the same detail but shorter, as the amount of space available will only allow a length of 240 feet.

All of the structures, designed by Edward Hageman and Associates of San Rafael, are to be of the open, long-span type with the 20-foot bays and can be divided into various sized units to suit prospective tenants.

Rice says he owns more than five acres in the neighborhood of Francisco Boulevard and Auburn Street and intends to erect other similar buildings as future need arises. The area will be called the J. B. Rice Center after Rice's grandfather, a Marin County pioneer who was one of the founders of the San Rafael Fire Department.

Heart Sunday Treasurer Named

Edward McInerney of the Bank of America, San Rafael Branch, has been appointed Heart Sunday treasurer, it was announced today by Leonard Bjorklund Jr., chairman of the Marin County Heart Fund drive.

McInerney will total contributions collected by Heart Sunday volunteers in a house-to-house canvass on Feb. 28.

McInerney, who is the assistant cashier and operations officer at the San Rafael bank, will be assisted by Arnold Finocchio, Gail Carbiener and Ben F. Moore III.

WIFE SLAYER LOSES APPEAL FOR FREEDOM

L. Ewing Scott, serving a life term in San Quentin Prison for the murder of his wife, lost an attempt to win freedom yesterday on the premise that there is no evidence of his crime.

Scott's wife, Evelyn, vanished from their Los Angeles home on May 16, 1955. Two years later, Scott was convicted of murdering her, although her body has never been found.

Since there was no corpus delicti, Scott contended in a petition for writ of habeas corpus filed in Marin Superior Court, there is no proof of murder and he is held illegally. But Judge N. Charles Brusatori denied the petition.

Extension Courses Will Be Offered

Four University of California Extension evening courses in languages and writing will start in Marin County next month. Details may be obtained by writing to the Extension office at the University of California, Berkeley 4. They will be:

"Conversational French" taught by Miss Genevieve Brassie, starting Feb. 14; "Conversational Italian" taught by Mrs. Luise Maria Stein, starting Feb. 16; "Television Writing" taught by Benjamin Draper, starting Feb. 21; "Conversational German" taught by Dr. Eric Moeller, starting Feb. 27.

Larkspur Floral Decorator Will Move Shop Sunday

The store was formerly occupied by the Golden Gate Cleaners. It has been completely remodeled by San Rafael contractor Ronald Antonioli according to Mrs. Eubanks' specifications.

The opening also marks Mrs. Eubanks' 10th anniversary in the floral business which has been conducted at 479 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur. It will be the occasion of an open house celebration with demonstrations in decorating by Mrs. Yoshi Kawai of San Anselmo and Wayne Andrade of Anaheim.

The new shop has 1,500 square feet of floor space and is equipped with modern refrigeration. Decor has been planned around an antique white and gold Steinway piano with mustard gold carpeting and mahogany cabinets.

Blacktop Mix 'Delivered' In Accident

An unscheduled delivery of six-and-one-half tons of hot blacktop mix was made yesterday afternoon at the entrance to Egger and Son Nursery at 700 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard in Kentfield.

Driver of the truck, which turned over in the entrance drive, was Donald Brown, 26, of 728 Cherry Street, Novato.

Brown told California Highway Patrolman Arthur Olson that he was northbound on Drake Boulevard approaching the stop signal at the junction of Wolfe Grade when his brakes failed. To avoid crashing into the rear of a car stopped at the signal, Brown said he attempted to make the turn into Wolfe Grade.

The truck, the property of Paul Phillips, asphalt and paving contractor, failed to make the turn and wound up on its side at the entrance to the nursery.

The load of paving material was destined for Fairfax. Phillips was ordered by the CHP to clean up the mess. The driver was unhurt.

Stinson Beach P-TC To Review Curriculum

The Stinson Beach Parent-Teacher Club Tuesday night agreed unanimously to review the curriculum of the Stinson Beach and Bolinas Schools with the teachers to try to get a better idea of what is expected from students.

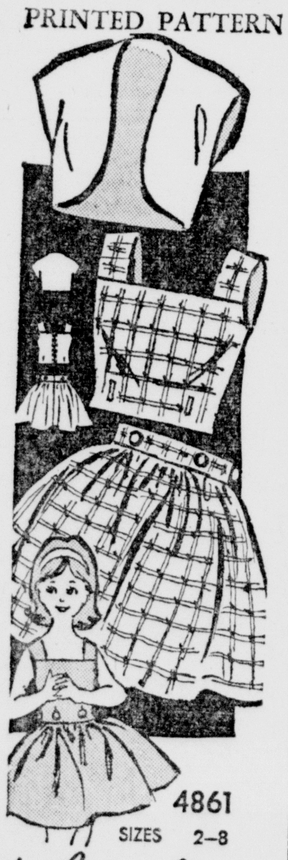

The two teachers from Stinson Beach and three from Bolinas Schools will attend, separately, the next five monthly meetings of the club, President Adelaide McCready said, for an educational review to give parents a chance to see the materials which are used and get an idea of expected goals from the first through the eighth grades.

"This procedure," Mrs. McCready said, "is expected to give a closer picture than is obtained in open houses or individual parent-teacher conferences." Parents will not be allowed to ask questions regarding their individual children.

Final plans were made by the club for the Mothers March of Dimes Drive, the club planning to make collections Jan. 28, 29 and 31.

A St. Patrick's Day game party is planned for March 17 at the community center to benefit the children's Easter parade and egg hunt, the school picnic and field day and the graduation reception.

NEW FRONTIER IN FASHION VIEW THEME

"Oh, Say Can You See?" what's ahead on the New Frontier of fashion for 1961, says Fashions With A View from the distinctive Ondine in Sausalito on Thursday.

Looking through their fashion spy glass and answering the question will be three of California's style leaders, Dorothy O'Hara, Kimberly Knits and the famed Nob Hill suits.

Long a favorite with fashion minded women, Dorothy O'Hara will show what is to be seen on the new frontier continuing to emphasize the impeccably cut, and beautifully draped Dorothy O'Hara look in her dresses.

Personifying all that is magical in the world of knits, the name "Kimberly" has become a by-word for country and town, city and travel, to wear all year round without punching a fashion town clock.

Say "Nob Hill" at Fashions With a View and you mean the craftsmanship and beauty of a Nob Hill suit made in San Francisco for discriminating women everywhere.

Reservations to enjoy the distinctive showing arranged by Helen Gray with final touches of spring accessories from her San Rafael shop and to meet three special "guests with a viewpoint" may be made by calling the Ondine, in Sausalito.

New Comers To Meet With Groups

The Newcomers Club, sponsored by the Marin County Hostess Service, will be meeting monthly with different organizations in Marin County.

This is being done to give the newcomer an opportunity to observe first hand the different groups and become acquainted with their purposes. The newcomer then may join the group of her choice.

On Tuesday, January 24, they have been invited to meet with the Marin Volunteers for their Fashion Show Luncheon.

Anyone who is a newcomer to Marin is welcome to attend. Reservations may be made by calling Rickey's. Ask to be beseated at the newcomers table.

Rauls-Latshaw Wedding Rites In Mill Valley

Mrs. Christine Pierce Latshaw of Mill Valley was married to Mr. Rauls at the home of her mother, Mrs. Sonia Pierce at 83 Walnut Avenue in Mill Valley.

Rev. Edward C. Derr of the San Anselmo Baptist Church performed the ceremony before the fireplace. Given in marriage by her grandfather, Alfons Haapa, the bride wore a brocade pink sheath with pink seed pearl cap and carried a bouquet of pink and white flowers centered with a white orchid.

Dennis Lee Dorsett of San Francisco was best man.

The bride was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is employed with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. She has a two year old son, Dennis Latshaw. Michael Pierce of Mill Valley is her brother.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Rauls of Gainsville, Tex., is employed with the Wells Fargo American Trust Co. in San Francisco.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home.

Novato Club Has Talk On Pruning Roses

Mrs. Dal Ruhlman of Santa Rosa gave a demonstration-lecture on "It's Fun to Prune Roses" at the January meeting of the Garden Group of the Novato Community Club on Tuesday.

For demonstration of the actual pruning, Mrs. Ruhlman used beautiful Charlotte Armstrong, Hoover, Floribunda and Paul Scarlett rose bushes supplied by a Novato nursery and an overgrown Blazo climbing rose from the garden of Mrs. Harry Eide.

Mrs. Ruhlman explained how to prune so that the bushes will be more shapely and have healthier growth. She told her audience that there are as many ways to prune roses as there are varieties of roses and then she showed the way she, in her long experience as a rose fancier, has found most successful under the growing conditions in Marin County.

During the business session, Mrs. Ray Foster spoke of the need for flowers to carry on the club garden therapy program and asked anyone who can donate flowers, berries or greens of any kind to call her.

Mrs. Robert Merritt, club representative on the Community Club Board of Directors, explained the latest developments in the Club House-City of Novato situation.

Mrs. Robin Cannon, newly reappointed chairman of the Spring Bazaar, announced the two day bazaar at the Brice Market in the Nave Shopping Center will be held in April. Mrs. Cannon urged members to start potting their slips and cuttings and preparing house plants and shrubbery and flowers of all kinds for the sale.

Simonetta Takes Most Of Bows At Florence Fashion Showing

FLORENCE, Italy (AP)—Controversial Roberto Capucci raised a furor at the Italian fashion openings, but Simonetta took most of the bows with an idea she carried over from fall.

With the Big Four of Roman couture all showing their new collections, it was the biggest day of the Florence showings of spring and summer fashions.

Simonetta stuck to her "boyish look"—rounded, parenthesis—shaped sleeves, slightly arched at the shoulders, that were engineered on loose, sometimes bias-cut coats and on rather high-waisted swagger suits.

The collection brought unanimous, foot-stomping approval from buyers and press. The audience loved the full, arched-sleeve coats and dandified, turn-of-the-century suits, all with round glass buttons that looked like giant marbles.

Simonetta's long and short evening clothes had rounded necklines and arched sleeves cut short. There were both bright colors and black.

Simonetta outshone her competitor husband, Fabiani. He, too, stuck to a theme of last season., wide, kimono sleeves on loose coats. Some beautifully shaped dresses—sleeveless, collarless, and a soft, flaring chemise line—were under the coats.

Capucci came later in the evening. Buyers and press were sharply divided over whether his clothes were dreams or nightmares. But the audience liked his dramatic evening clothes and gave him an ovation for effort.

Capucci did 1930 costumes in murky colored crepes that dripped with bias cutting. Heads were banded, with tulle bows to complete the flashback look.

Some bright ideas looked fresh. A new, parachute-like silk made billowing coats over matching dresses. Colors were yellow, mauve, shrimp pink, and mint green in polka dots. Sleeveless, reversible coats in two-tone silks and cottons went over chemise dresses. Beads that looked like big jelly beans made buttons and belts on dresses and edged suit jackets.

SALEING INTO SPRING on Tuesday at Rickey's Fashion Focus Luncheon will be Mrs. William Donohoe. The first Focus Luncheon of the new year will honor the Marin Volunteers. The luncheon gets underway at 12:30 with the show at 1 p.m. (Independent-Journal photo)

Mrs. Kennedy's Gown Simple And Sleeveless

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy's gown for tonight's Inaugural Ball is in sharp contrast to the usually fussy, full-skirted gowns worn by first ladies at inauguration balls.

The dress—which eventually may wind up among the memorabilia at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington—was made public today by the president-elect's press secretary, Pierre Salinger.

The very slim skirt is made of white silk peau d'ange, a sheer silk veiled with white chiffon. The collarless, sleeveless bodice, richly embroidered in silk and brilliants, is fitted, but it is covered by a transparent, very full overblouse that puffs out like a cloud at the hipbone.

While traveling to and from the three or four locations of official inauguration celebrations in the capital tonight, Mrs. Kennedy will button a floor-length cape around her gown. It is made of the same white silk peau d'ange and is completely veiled in silk triple chiffon.

The new first lady, highly regarded for her understated high fashion sense, is expected to wear 20-button white glace kid gloves with her ensemble and carry a matching white tailored clutch purse. Peaking from the hemline will be white silk opera pumps, medium high.

The store, which has been guarding the costume sketches as if they were a top secret, refused to comment on the cost.

'Saleing Into Spring' Focus Show's Theme

Such is the fashion fun that will blow into Rickey's first Fashion Focus luncheon on the new year on Tuesday when it goes "SALEing into Spring."

Honored as the first Marin organization of the 1961 series will be the capable, hard working Marin Volunteers whose financial and volunteer aid to the Senior Citizens of Marin has made a significant county wide contribution.

Those happy price tags that are usually pinned inside a sleeve will be jauntily Saleing along with the original price gaily chalked through to show the price of a fashion windfall.

"Wear-Me-All-Year" looks have been chosen by Barbara McClure from her distinctive Boardwalk shop in Belvedere including colorful coordinates, sportswear, sweaters, skirts, town and country classics and late day looks.

Promenading for the Marin Volunteers will be Mrs. William Ghilotti, Mrs. Alex Bovee, Mrs. Al Simoninni, Mrs. William Donohoe and Mrs. John Cudavich, a new member of the group that welcomes into membership Marin women interested in furthering the work of our senior citizens.

Novato Junior Club Dinner Tomorrow Eve

After the meal a short meeting was presided over by Mrs. Donald Vogelaar, president of the Junior Federation, Pacifica District, from Saratoga. Plans were discussed for many of the Club's coming events. Guest speaker for the evening was Mr. John Barbe, laundry executive, who spoke on the care and preservation of clothing.

Tomorrow is the date for the Novato Club's Progressive Dinner for members and their husbands. The group will begin their four-course meal at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Chisholm, where guests will be served a champagne cocktail with hors d' oeuvres. Next, the couples will proceed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Duane Butler for a variety of salads. Host and hostess for the main course will be Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ruff. To close the meal, desert and coffee will be served at the Robert Melton's home. The Club members and their husband will then complete their party with dancing at Cloud 5 in Novato.

THE ENGAGEMENT of Vicki Ann Bateman, above, to Dwight Carden Tardy of San Rafael, was recently announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Neil B. Rice of Riverside. Parents of the future benedict are Mr. and Mrs. Lauriston Tardy of San Rafael.

Central Marin Women Voters Meet Tuesday

Members of the League of Women Voters of Central Marin will have their first general meeting of the new year at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Harold Watkin, Acorn Way, Kent Woodlands.

Discussion at the meeting will center around California finances and methods of taxing, with Mrs. John S. Thayer, local League president, acting as discussion leader. Three members of the Berkeley League, Mrs. Archer Taylor, Miss Dorothy Williams and Mrs. George Piternick, will be present to offer information gained in their League's study of the subject.

California finances is but one of the studies being carried on by League members. On a national basis, they are studying United States economic policies, while there are two local projects now being carried on by the Central Marin League: an updating of an earlier study of Bay Area problems and their possible governmental solutions.

The League of Women Voters, a non-partisan organization, is open to all women citizens of voting age. Mrs. Thomas McCart is membership chairman.

Ice Cream Glamorizes Jelly Roll

Give home freezers the credit for this luscious alternative. Nowadays cooks can bake a sponge cake in a jelly-roll pan, fill the cake with ice cream, store the dessert in the freezer and bring it out for a special occasion.

Just to gild the lily, thawed frozen strawberries are folded into the ice cream before it is blanketed with the cake. As an accompanying sauce, some spirits may be added to the strawberry juice for zip.

STRAWBERRY ICE-CREAM CAKE

- 1 cup sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- ¼ cup water
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- ¼ cup sifted confectioners' sugar
- 2 packages (10 ounce each) frozen sliced strawberries (thawed)
- 1 pint vanilla ice cream

Line the bottom of a jelly-roll pan (15½ by 10½ inches) with wazed paper. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Beat eggs until thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in granulated sugar, continuing to beat until very thick and ivory color. Add water and vanilla; beat to combine. Add sifted dry ingredients; beat just until smooth. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven 12 to 15 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn cake out on towel spread with contioner's sugar; remove paper. Roll up cake in towel; cool. Drain strawberries; fold into softened ice cream. Unroll cake, spread with ice-cream mixture. Roll in foil; freeze until firm. Before serving, defrost 10 minutes.

Slim Skirts Lead

Full skirts are gaining for resort wear but slim ones still lead, Women's Wear Daily reports. Favorite ways of working fulness: pleats, soft and unpressed, knife or box; some gores; and Lanvin's teardrop influence. Other important skirt shapes: rounded fulness starting from long torso back; back wraps, circular cuts; side buttonings; wraparounds. Waistlines are wrapped, buckled, tied, sashed.

Jewel-Like Salad

A jewel-like fruit salad that is no effort to prepare eases things for the busy holiday hostess! Drain a chilled can of fruit cocktail and toss lightly with a dressing of mayonnaise, grated lemon rind and dried dill. Serve on crisp salad greens for a delicious and attractive addition to the menu.

Success Formula: Let Hubby Alone

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—A psychologist who specializes in the problems of management believes a woman who wants to help her husband's career can be extremely effective if she just leaves him alone at work.

David K. Spelt, of Rohrer, Hibler & Replogle, Milwaukee consulting psychologists, recently told wives of employees of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., a wife should have "enough imagination and self-sufficiency to run a modern home without making many interruptions at her husband's office."

Spelt said interruptions are distracting to a man at work and if he "is constantly interrupted during the day by calls from home he well might be looked on as one who may be unable to give his best during the working day" when it comes to concentration and decision making.

Spelt told the wives they have "an obligation to keep material and financial ambitions in line with the family situation."

He also said it is desirable for women to have "enough intelligence to keep reasonably in stride with her husband."

In Swimwear

Weightless fabrics provide the impact in swimwear, permitting some of the most delicate and feminine silhouettes imaginable. The relaxed maillot looks outstanding in silk knits or silk-like synthetics. Some swimsuits feature drawstring waistlines which soften bodices. Others are styled like rompers and are tied casually with string belts.

THE PARENTS' CORNER

Guidance Counsellor

Most Of Our Society Does Not Yet Accept Interracial Marriages

"My daughter loves a Negro boy," writes a very worried father.

"They both are 17. They started dating last summer. I am a liberal. I did not object to the dates. However, last night they told me they planned to marry. I can't stand that. I ordered my daughter never to see the boy again. I phoned his parents. They came to get him. They disapproved as strongly as I do.

"Today both youngsters are heartbroken. Have I done the right thing?"

Yes, you have. I'm sorry you let your daughter go out with the boy. At her age love blooms quickly. The only safe assumption is that teen-agers may fall in love with any one they date. That means they shouldn't go out with anyone who could not become a suitable spouse.

I'm sure that no race is superior. The white race is not, by the really scientific measures. However, we all are raised in particular groups, with particular attitudes. We acquire the prejudices of our groups. We can't avoid them. We can't live happily outside our groups for any length of time. Those who try, suffer.

Most of us are not ready to accept interracial marriages. Maybe in 50 or 60 years we will be. But we aren't now.

If your girl marries this young man she'll be very unhappy. Her friends will shun her. He'll find jobs hard to get. Life will be difficult.

Don't give in to your daughter. If possible send her away for a while. Give her time to adjust, then encourage her to date members of her own race. Eventually she'll thank you.

(Q) "I heard a speaker tell of a scientific study which 'proved' that Negroes have lower IQs than whites. Is this accurate?"

(A) No. Intelligence tests are greatly influenced by cultural backgrounds. The tests are not fair to most Negroes.

Suspect Cleared In Bar Assault

Alexander Perry, 23, of 51 Octavia Street, San Rafael, accused of attacking a Fairfax bar owner on New Year's Eve, has been found innocent in Marin Municipal Court.

Robert P. Joy, part owner of the Drake Club, testified he refused to serve Perry and Frank Molles, 22, of Route 1, Box 260, San Rafael.

He asked them to leave and Molles grabbed him, said Joy. As he was talking to Molles at the door, someone hit him on the head, the bar owner testified. He said Perry was already outside and starting down the steps. He does not know who hit him.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dixie School Academic Program Told

Dixie School District's seventh and eighth grades are exceeding state requirements for time on prescribed subjects and also receiving a science course which isn't required, Supt. Dennie B. Willis and members of the teaching staff told a meeting of the district board Wednesday night.

They said that whereas 600 minutes are required, 900 minutes weekly are devoted to reading, writing, spelling, language, geography, U. S. and California history, civics and arithmetic. Additionally, there is science teaching for 255 minutes.

Stress was also laid on the district's provision of special instruction for the exceptionally gifted and the backward.

Young GOP Sets Fashion Show

Next event of the Marin County Young Republicans will be a fashion show at Rickey's Rancho Rafael in Ignacio at 12:30 p.m. on Jan. 31, president Gordon Ness announced today.

The Young Republicans made a quick change in their Tuesday night program, canceling a scheduled debate on the civic center and hearing, instead, a talk on the civic center by Joseph W. Morrison of Mill Valley, who gave pros and cons of the dispute over its construction.

Among Directors

Edward J. Boessnecker of 5 Hollycourt Court, Mill Valley, is among incorporating directors of American Pacific Builders and Developers, Inc., a San Mateo County firm which has filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan in Sacramento. The company is capitalized at $100,000 in $10 par shares.

Many Gas, Electric Bills To Be Trimmed

Gas and electric bills for 657 Marin County customers of Pacific Gas and Electric Co. will be reduced by a total of $16,836 a year beginning Feb. 2, it was reported today by the California Public Utilities Commission.

The rate reductions were set as the result of a survey of customer density in fast-growing areas throughout northern California. When "fringe area" customers are included in a higher density area, their rates are lowered, according to Everett C. McKeage, president of the commission which ordered the survey.

San Rafael has 173 customers who will save $2,942 on gas and $3,225 on electricity.

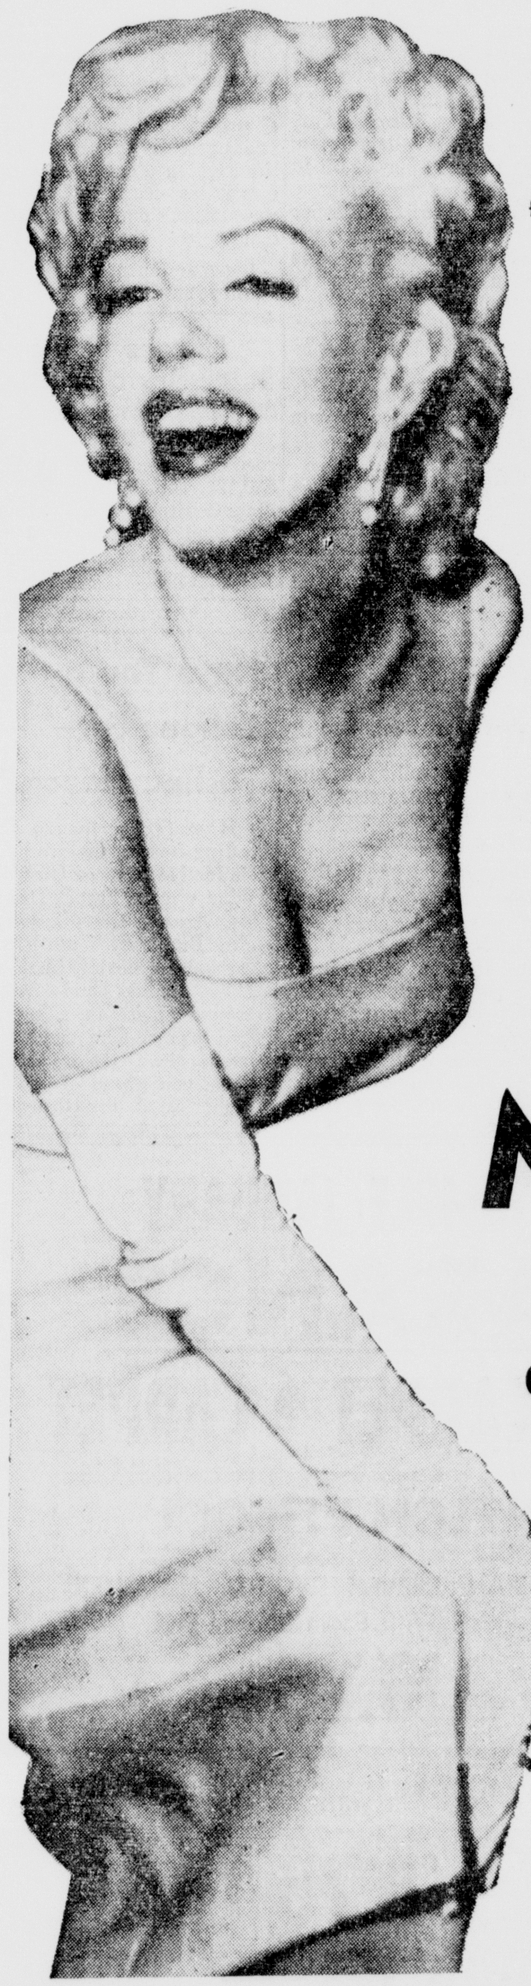

In Terra Linda, 215 customers will save $1,343 on gas and $3,276 on electricity.

Cashier At Bank Has Anniversary

Charles E. Hinds of Redwood Drive in Woodacre, assistant cashier for Wells-Fargo Bank American Trust Co. in San Francisco, will observe his 40th anniversary with the bank tomorrow.

He has served branches in the East Bay, Modesto and at the Matson Building offices since 1945. Hinds is active in the Woodacre Improvement Club as well as San Francisco organizations.

MARIN MOVIE FARE

O'Hara Story Film Coming To Rafael

By LES DARD

A preview of the weekend films:

RAFAEL THEATER

Elizabeth Taylor revels in liquor and illicit romance in her new movie, "Butterfield 8," which is based on John O'Hara's story about a mixed-up beauty who realizes too late that life is not just a bowl of Manhattan cherries.

It opens Sunday on the San Rafael screen.

But then she meets Laurence Harvey, a handsome lout who married wealth (Dina Merrill) and couldn't handle it. This, she decides, is it; she's capable of real love.

Theirs is a stormy romance: Drinking, cooing in public, quarrels and finally a decision on her part to flee from both Harvey and her past. He pursues her in a thruway auto chase which ends in a violent crash . . . and death.

The cast of this adult melodrama includes Eddie Fisher, who plays a big brother to Liz: Betty Field and Kay Medford as a pair of aging, caustic cynics, and Mildred Dunnock, as Liz' distraught mother.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Elvis Presley is back and the Hub screen has got him in a musical opus titled "GI Blues" (Technicolor), starting Sunday.

Juliet Prowse plays a danseuse who has withstood entire NATO divisions until Elvis comes along.

During most of the film, Elvis and his buddies (who always seem to be on pass) sing to each other, wreck restaurants, try to pick up girls and have a ball.

"GI Blues" ends patriotically with a giant soldier show. Elvis, wearing a skin-tight uniform and with his crew-cut pomaded, does a bump and grind under a huge American flag, surrounded by the official insignia of three U. S. armored divisions.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

A couple of years ago, there was a rousing Japanese film playing in these parts entitled "The Seven Samurai." The story—transplanted to Mexico—has been lifted en toto.

Plot deals with a Mexican village constantly terrorized by a bandit chief (Eli Walach). To protect themselves, the people hire a group of gunmen to take care of Wallach.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"From the Terrace," in color-CinemaScope, is based on the John O'Hara best-seller. It stars Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward.

Set in the post-war years, it tells of a young man (Newman) whose lovely but greedy wife (Woodward) spurs him to fabulous success in Wall Street—and rewards him with infidelity.

He tumbles for another girl (Ina Balin), even though his wife threatens to bar this happiness. Then Newman cuts away the web that entangles his life and solves his dilemma makes up the rest of the story.

SEQUOIA THEATER

The story of Franklin Delano Roosevelt's triumph over polio is told in "Sunrise at Campobello" (color), based on the prize-winning Broadway play by Dore Schary. It opens Sunday on the Mill Valley screen.

Ralph Bellamy plays FDR in a vivid, perfect performance. Greer Garson is cast as Eleanor Roosevelt and Hume Cronyn is the gnomish Louis Howe, the henchman who kept alive the future President's political hopes. Ann Shoemaker portray's FDR's mother, a dominating woman whose possessive characteristics he had to contain and destroy to win back his place in society.

LARK THEATER

Britain has been sending us a series of crowd-pleasing comedies in which the characters "carry on."

The latest of these is "Carry On Sergeant," held over on the Larkspur screen, and it is based on the premise that turning British army recruits into soldiers is sure-fire humor.

NOVATO THEATER

"It Started in Naples" (VistaVision, color) is a comedy starring the late Clark Gable and Sophia Loren, but stolen by an urchin named Marietto.

PROBLEMS—Elizabeth Taylor discusses her problems with Laurence Harvey in the screen version of "Butterfield 8," a film based on a novel by John O'Hara. The film opens Sunday at the Rafael Theater in San Rafael.

MOTOR MOVIES

"All the Young Men" is the story of a Marine platoon, isolated in the mountains of Korea in 1951. It suddenly finds itself with a Negro sergeant in charge.

Resentments flare up against the non-com (Sidney Poitier)—a Southerner who resents him; a professional soldier (Alan Ladd) recently broken in rank, the frightened ones who harass him in his efforts to carry out the platoon's dangerous assignment.

Revenue Figure

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—California finished the 1959-60 fiscal year with total revenues exceeding expenditures by $11,680,121. The figure came from State Controller Alan Cranston, who said revenues were $2,196,814,116 and expenditures $2,085,143,995.

'Candlelight' Concert Set Next Friday

Second of the "candlelight concerts" for the family sponsored by the Homestead Valley Improvement Club will be presented next Friday, according to Mrs. Martin Goldschmidt, general chairman.

Featuring music by the "Bach to Mozart" group, the parties are given at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley starting at 8:30 p.m.

For the second concert, composed of Bach cantatas numbers 82, 51 and 49, the group will be augmented to 10 musicians and will include a soprano and baritone in addition to strings, oboe and trumpet.

Carl Modell, fire commissioner of the Homestead Valley Fire Protection District, will join the group as a string bass player.

Many people were turned away at the first all-Mozart program, Mrs. Goldschmidt said. For the second one, holders of series tickets have been sent cards requesting them to report if they do not plan to attend. Seats will be reserved for series subscribers until five minutes before the performance begins. Others may call Mrs. John Dennis, 69 Marlin Avenue, Mill Valley.

Group Approves 2 PUC Choices

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee moved quickly and with little questioning and no dissent yesterday to approve Gov. Edmund G. Brown's recent two appointments to the State Public Utilities Commission.

The full Senate is expected to confirm the appointments next week, giving Brown control of the powerful agency.

The appointees are George C. Grover, 38, of Corona, and Frederick B. Holoboff, 35, of Del Mar, named last week to six-year terms paying $21,000 a year.

First White Stripe

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The first white center stripe placed on a California highway was on the concrete pavement between Los Gatos and Santa Cruz in the summer of 1922, according to a report from the Assembly Interim Committee on Transportation and Finance.

Legislature Asked To Change Meet

SACRAMENTO (AP) — An assemblyman yesterday proposed the legislature hold one long session each year.

At present it meets for 120 days in odd-numbered years and holds a 30-day session in even years.

ACTION ON TAXES

Property taxes in Marin County have increased over 120% in five years. This confiscatory trend with minor limitations under present tax laws is causing concern.

Your Marin County Taxpayers Association is recommending that an ordiance be passed so that not more than 25% of the gross tax levies of the county (including schools and special districts) exclusive of bond redemption and interest may be raised by real and personal property taxes. A gross transaction tax of not over 2½% would be one fair way. Undoubtedly there are many other equitable methods to accomplish the desired aim of spreading taxes more evenly among all citizens of the county.

We believe this would make it possible for thousands of people working in Marin but living and spending their earnings outside to live here, it would create a demand for new homes. It would definitely stop businesses from moving out of the county because of unbearable high property taxes. It would bring new business and industry to the county and save home owners, farmers and businessmen approximately one half of the present taxes they are paying.

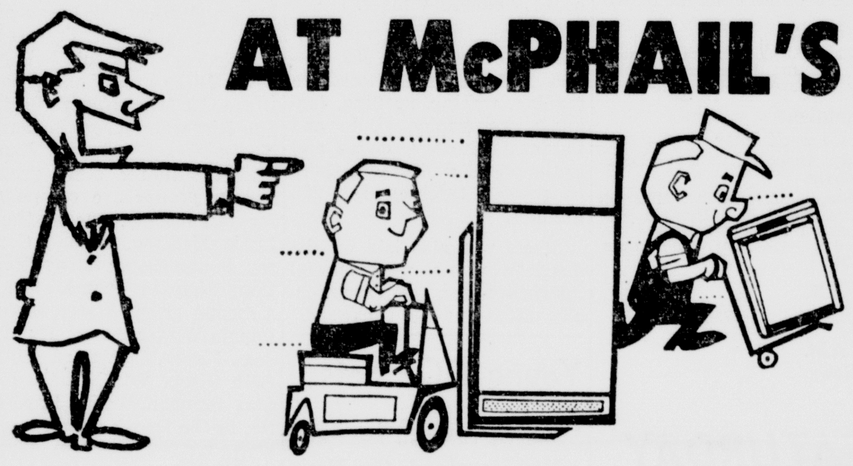

The power to tax is the power to destroy. We urge all voters to help keep this power in your own hands for your own future welfare and that of your

GREATER SAN RAFAEL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

40TH PROGRESS REPORT

FOR THE YEAR 1960

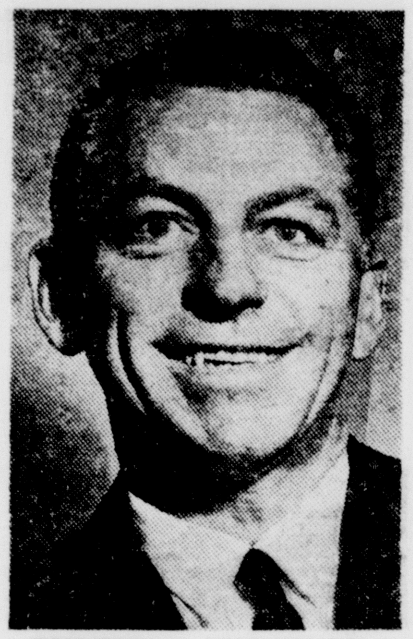

Featuring business men and women working together in a county of unusual natural beauty to make their community a better place in which to live, work and play.

Jack Lucey

Chamber President's Message: 1960 Was Challenging For All

Your Chamber of Commerce represents over 350 business and professional men in San Rafael. It is an organization that coordinates and integrates the talents and resources of businessmen and professional men trying to make their community a better place in which to live and earn a living. Our programs are dedicated to the improvement of living standards and improvement of the economic climate of our community. Its entire function is the integration and support of projects which are in the public interest.

This year, not unlike others, we have had our share of successful projects. It is gratifying to have had a part in their origin and completion to the end that those of us in San Rafael will benefit. There were also those undertakings that are still being planned and organized. We have confidence that the work will continue during the coming year under the leadership of your new Officers and Directors.

BURTON R. KIRCHNER
Retiring President

1960 has been a challenging year for us all. Census figures show that San Rafael has increased its population nearly 50 per cent in the past ten years. This means that since 1950 there are over 6,000 new residents in San Rafael, alone. Marin's growth shows 60,000 new people in this same decade. We are very confident that the elected officials of both Marin County and the City of San Rafael will continue to handle this growth through long range planning in an orderly manner, as they have in the past.

The many and varied functions of the Chamber require the leadership and just plain hard work of many men, and to the Officers, the Board of Directors, the Committee Chairmen and the members who have so generously devoted their time and ability to complete our 1960 program of work, I sincerely say "Thank you."

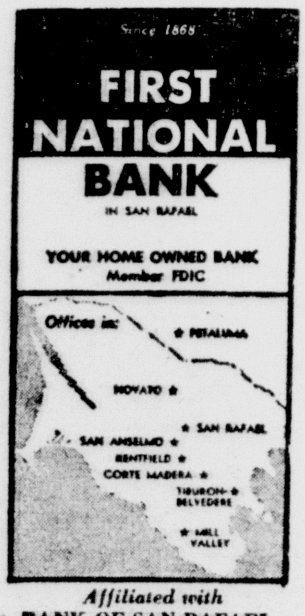

In conclusion, I would like to specifically thank the Board of Supervisors, the San Rafael City Council, and Richard Shirley, Secretary-Manager, and his fine staff at the Chamber Office, for their cooperation and support this past year.

Sincerely,
B. R. KIRCHNER
President

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
IN SAN RAFAEL

A history of banking service to Marin that goes all the way back to 1868, only 18 years after California achieved statehood. Marin's population then was about 6,000—today it is almost 150,000. San Rafael had less than 600 permanent residents—today San Rafael boasts more than 20,000 residents.

As Marin has grown, First National has grown; but the friendly, personal service that Marinites have always been accustomed to is still our trademark. Since 1868—THE BANK OF SERVICE.

THE BANK THAT KNOWS MARIN

SAN RAFAEL IS ECONOMIC HEART OF MARIN

The trading Area, however, extends well beyond the political limits of Marin County and includes customers from the counties to the north and northeast of San Rafael. Some business also comes from people on the other side of the Richmond-San Rafael and Golden Gate bridges and is conducted not only by San Rafael's many fine retailers, but also by its manufacturers and wholesalers. The "City of Good Health" (because of the happy climate, the city was named after the Patron Saint of Good Health), is the county seat, containing large banks, stores, professional offices, service firms. It is a growing center for medical services, as well. The county-wide daily newspaper (circ. 28,000), the Independent-Journal, is published in San Rafael. Important county roads all lead to Marvelous Marin's No. 1 City, the heart of a steadily expanding community, within the San Francisco Bay Area complex.

NEW INTERCHANGE—Opened in the fall of 1960, the new Terra Linda U. S. 101 Interchange will now move the rapidly increasing traffic in this area at a higher speed more safely. At the left can be seen a portion of the growing residential and commercial community. The interchange will serve a professional and business center, convalescent hospital, medical clinic, the new Frank Lloyd Wright-designed County Civic Center, Fairchild Semiconductor Corp., Freitas Industrial Park, new Terra Linda High School, elementary schools, the Pacific Telephone Co. new technical services building, a new San Rafael fire station, two shopping centers, a large group of garden apartments and several other projects now on drawing boards.

AL RE, Streets & highways committee chairman . . . In addition to having had a successful year as head of this important and active committee, he claims the shortest name of any man in Marin County. Al is the general manager of Cazassa's Mens Shop. In connection with discussions on the future Trans-Marin Freeway, he arranged many meetings jointly with citizen leaders in San Anselmo and Fairfax.

101 Improvement Tops List Of Streets, Highways Projects

Topping the projects of the Streets and Highways committee for 1960 is the widening of U. S. 101 through San Rafael. Allied with this anticipated State Division of Highways project is the major interchange that may connect with the Trans-Marin freeway.

The State presented proposed plans to the City of San Rafael and its interested citizenry for its consideration. They were slightly different plans for carrying more traffic between the San Quentin Wye and Puerto Suello.

There was opposition and approval of the recommendations made by the State Highway people. There was agreement, however, that an urgent study was needed of San Rafael streets which would feed into the new on and off ramps of the remodeled freeway. The City Council then hired the Daniel Coleman Engineering Co. to make an independent study of the problem to make sure that whatever freeway-agreement was signed would be in the best interests of San Rafael.

Additionally, that firm was asked to study other routes which are and will be needed by the city as it grows.

OTHER ROUTES

Realizing that the deveolpment of the McNear's Peninsula, led by the huge Marin Bay golfing-yachting-resort home project, will probably add something like 17,000 additional population to that single area, Coleman is studying the prospects for a road to link San Quentin Wye with San Pedro Road. This will mean a bridge at or near the mouth of San Rafael Canal. Such a road would eliminate much of the present and future traffic jam near the present Irwin St. off ramp. The financing of such a road is a bit questionable and may be an obligation of the City of San Rafael.

Another vital future link with the present San Rafael trading center, under study, is one presently referred to as the "Fifth Ave. extension." This future new route would go over the hill near the Rafael Highlands area to join with the expanding Terra Linda residential-commercial area.

The committee has worked closely with representatives of the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce with the idea in mind that this same new road would be linked near the top of the hill with a road leading into San Anselmo.

An additional need for such a route becomes evident when it is realized that many persons from Central and Western Marin desiring to visit the new County Civic Center, will have to pass through San Rafael's city streets first in order to reach the freeway.

TRANS-MARIN ROUTE

This new freeway, known as Legislative Route 69, will eventually link U. S. 101 with State Sign Route 1 very likely from the San Rafael area, through San Anselmo, Fairfax and ending at Pt. Reyes Station. By law, construction cannot begin on this route until after July, 1963.

But planning and purchase of rights of way can take place before that time. That is why the communities involved and chambers of commerce have passed resolutions urging the State to work as fast as possible to present first recommendations to the governmental bodies involved.

Right now engineers are working on land development plans for several thousand acres in the San Geronimo Valley area. Plans are afoot for housing projects. The new Nicasio Reservoir and the good housing terrain of the Nicasio Basin will undoubtedly attract additional residential and commercial projects within the 1960's.

Many far-sighted investors are eyeing the prospect of the development of the Tomales Bay shoreline area. And all of this depends on the construction of new main arteries of surface transportation.

City Streets Much Improved

San Rafael's economic vigor and growth is also reflected in the City's Public Works Department expenditures, under the direction of the department director, Norris Rawles, supported by a progressive City Council.

For the first six months of the 1960-61 fiscal year approximately $240,000 has been spent for various capital improvements such as resurfacing of city streets, new streets, traffic signals, storm drainage systems and pumps. About five miles of city streets have been resurfaced.

EDMUND WILLIAMS, Off-Street Parking committee chairman is head of the San Rafael office of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States and former president of the San Rafael Jr. Chamber of Commerce.

More Off-Street Parking Needed

While the City's four parking lots have been used an average percentage of the time during the whole year, there have been times when they might have been used more often. The committee realizes that even more parking lots are needed as business increases, and that the possibility of buying additional lots depends on the money earned by the present metered spaces, both on and off-street.

This recommendation is pointed toward greater earnings in order to buy future land.

Additionally, many shoppers have told the Chamber and retailers that they find it difficult to shop in just two hours, which has been the limit on the lot meters. Most curb meters are for one-hour. It is further realized that some employees may use the four-hour spaces, but that this move should then make more of the one and two-hour spaces available.

40 MINUTES

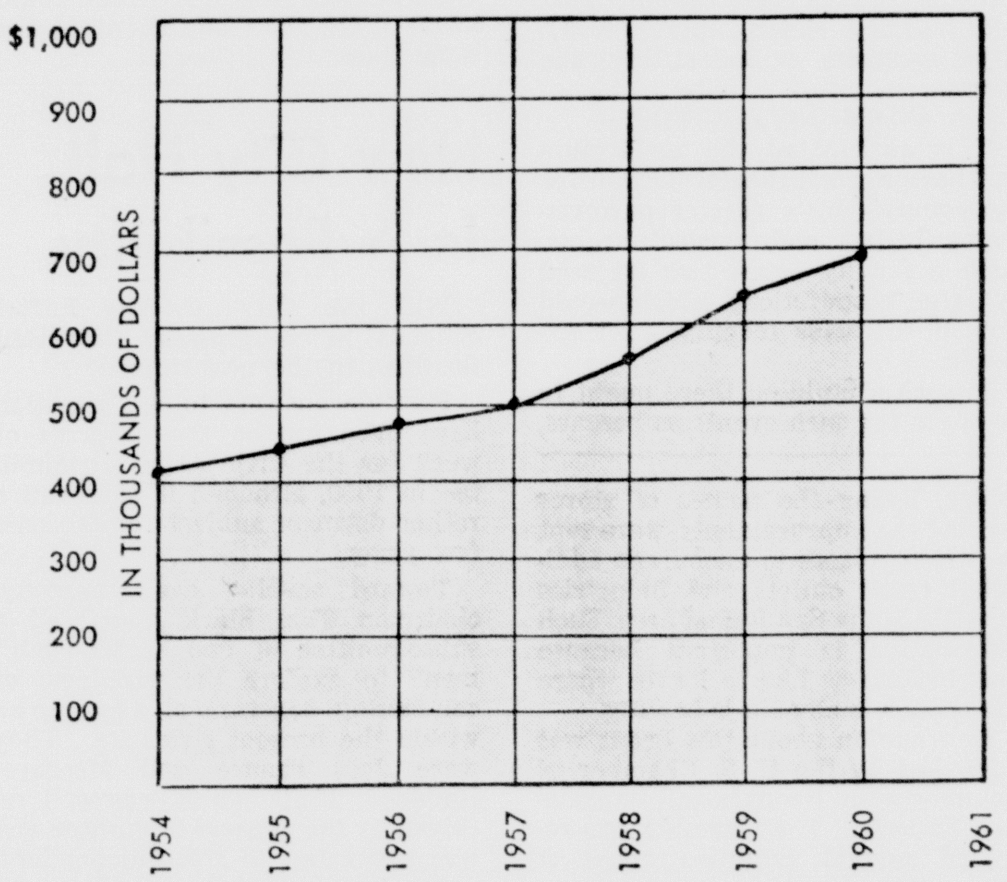

The City's traffic committee has also been studying the possibility of setting the Fourth St. meters at 40 minutes, the side streets at one hour and the meters on Third and Fifth at two-hours.

Should the four-hour experiment turn out as anticipated, efforts will be made to secure some all-day parking spaces. Employee parking is a growing problem which will be solved.

PARKING LOT PROMOTION—Sgt. Donald T. Lembcke of the U. S. Army Recruiting Office helps the community by placing a special bright yellow sticker on each meter. They read: "You can park more than one hour in the City parking lots," which were placed on all one-hour curb parking meters. Warren Marcus of the Marcus Men's Shop enjoys the project, hoping shoppers will use the off-street parking lots more.

4-Hour Parking Spaces Sought

A recommendation to the City of San Rafael to set up some four-hour metered spaces in two of the City Parking Lots was made by the Chamber near the end of 1960.

This came about as a result of studies made by the Off-Street Parking committee. The request is to set up an experiment, changing half the two-hour space in the Fifth and C lot and the Third and Cijos lot to four-hour spaces, and to start it the first of 1961.

It is hoped that such a move will make more of the one-hour curb spaces often used by "meter-feeders" more available to short-time shoppers and that those women requiring more than two hours will have space available. Additionally, such a move would further promote use of the City Lots and build up the Parking District fund for the future purchase of additional land for off-street parking.

The committee would like to see the City purchase more property very soon even though construction of a fifth lot might take place much later.

The change can be made at little cost, because the present meters were made to be used as four-hour meters with slight alterations.

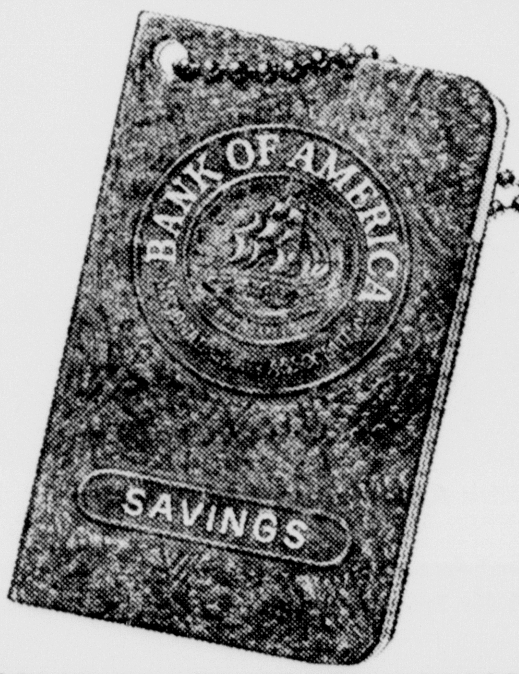

CITY CONSIDERATIONS

On top of this, the City Council has asked its traffic committee, with the chamber committee, to consider 40-minute curbside meters on Fourth, one-hour meters on side streets and two-hour meters possibly on Fifth and Third.

The parking facilities have definitely helped increase sales and a sales tax income to the City, and the subject of improved parking will continue to be studied as the commercial district expands.

EXECUTIVE MANAGER

$5 Million Spent On Store Improvements

Over $5,000,000 were spent on new stores and store improvements in a four year period from January, 1956 to May, 1960.

"This," according to speaker Leslie Hood of the San Francisco Bay Area Council, "is a real record as far as our office has been able to determine. This money was spent for upgrading the retailing community without the use of a single cent of either State or Federal urban renewal funds."

Hood, guest speaker for the annual Combined Service Clubs luncheon, sponsored by the Chamber's civic affairs committee, said that San Rafael has shown a better record for such self-improvement than any other city of comparable size in the Bay Area.

"Such ample proof of the excellent business climate," concluded Hood, "certainly should encourage new retailing, commercial and industrial plants to join our band-wagon of successful growth."

Chairman for the event was George Silvestri, president of the host Kiwanis Club of San Rafael. Other participating clubs: Rotary, Optimist, Lions, 20-30, Zonta International, Sertoma, Exchange, Business and Professional Women's Club, and the San Rafael Jr. Chamber of Commerce.

CIVIC PRIDE AWARDS

In recognition for the investments made by business and property owners the Board of Directors authorized the first Civic Pride Awards, which were given out at the luncheon. They read: "Awarded in recognition of your effort to build a more beautiful and functional city by substantially improving your business property."

Many places of business are displaying the award for the public to see. As time goes by and more new stores are built and more modern store fronts and interiors are installed, additional awards will be made.

Civic Pride awards, signed by chamber President Burton Kirchner and Manager Richard Shirley, and with the chamber's gold seal and red ribbon attached, was given to 105 firms and 36 property owners.

Special commendation was given in the specially printed program folder to the construction projects made by the City of Rafael, County of Marin, San Rafael City Schools District and the Marin Municipal Water District. Their expenditures were not included in the $5,000,000 figure.

COLOR DISPLAY POSTER

The public was further made aware of the accomplishments of the business community by the display of a large 4 x 6 foot poster containing an aerial picture of the business area surrounded by color photographs of 55 examples of the new construction.

This special panel was made by architects Carl Gromme and Robert W. F. Severin and Ray Schultz and Robert Ritter.

Since the luncheon in May, 1960, it has been displayed for several weeks each in the Wells Fargo American Trust Co., the First National Bank, the Marin County Savings & Loan and the Northwestern Savings & Loan associations. It is now on display at the Chamber of Commerce.

Copies of the special program folder, listing the names of stores making the improvements, were sent to various places to encourage additional retail outlets and industries to settle in the San Rafael area. Such information is important because new businesses like to locate where the economic climate is healthy.

Information about this event was published by the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in its national information bulletin. The Chamber has received several inquiries about it from other American communities.

War Memorial Auditorium Is Advocated

With the appointment during the year of Ray Schultz as chairman of the Civic Affairs subcommittee on the Veterans War Memorial Auditorium, aggressive work has begun toward the long-sought construction of this sorely needed building.

Others on the committee include Carl Gromme, Robert W. F. Severin, Sig Herzog, Jr., Evelyn Friend, Frank Lucas, (co-chairman), Rob Ritter and George Jones. W. P. Duhamel, the County Veterans Service Officer, meets with the committee in advisory capacity.

The committee is to recommend that the Chamber ask the County Board of Supervisors to appropriate monies out of the special fund (which has been building up slowly for years) for initial studies for this project.

ECONOMIC STIMULANT

The committee and the veterans see this building fulfilling many community functions, not the least of which is a place for various county cultural and civic groups to gather.

But this building is also visualized as one which would certainly stimulate the county's growing convention business. Such a large building would provide the necessary large and small meeting rooms for conventions, the delegates to which, could stay in various present and future motels.

An arena section in the auditorium could house such events as auto, boat and building shows, sport events, large banquets or industrial trade shows.

COMMUNITY NEEDS

It is anticipated the auditorium will have a small theater section for the county's little theater performances, ballets and musical events. Such a facility could also be used by large corporations which would rent it for sales meetings, for example.

In such a building there ought to be space for such events as bazaars, business or organization meetings, style shows, art shows, committee meeting rooms and kitchen facilities of some kind and, of course, space for the veterans groups to meet regularly.

The committee and the veterans feel that the auditorium should be multi-purpose and one which could house more than one event at the same time.

THOMAS STARK, Civic Affairs committee chairman, is manager of Redwood Factors and a former member of the San Rafael Planning Commission. This past year he headed one of the Chamber's large committees which accomplished two main items: Called attention and gained wide publicity for the capital investments made in the City's commerce buildings, and gave stimulation to the idea of a new city hall. The subject of a pedestrian mall for the business center is on the committees future list of projects.

New City Hall Is A Possibility

Will the City of San Rafael officials be working in City Hall facilities in the near future?

Possible answers to this question have been top on the program of work for the Civic Affairs committee in 1960, although it has been a rather dormant subject for the past few years.

Toward seeking early answers, chairman Tom Stark appointed a subcommittee of two as "co-chair" men" to explore the problems of conducting government services within the present structure. They were Jess France and Margaret Hedden. Their report was well received by the general committee and was excerpted in the Independent-Journal newspaper.

MRS. ESTHER DEARTH, Marin Visitors Bureau chairman, is very active in community affairs around Marin County and is vice president, secretary-treasurer and controller of the Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. She is past district governor of the Savings and Loan Controllers Assn.

VISITORS PROJECT—This is an artist's drawing of the proposed construction for 1961 by the State Highway Department at the north end of the famed Golden Gate Bridge. It will provide a traffic pattern, parking space for autos and auto-trailers and lookout space for tourists.

Drake Statue Promoted To Bring Tourists

Visitors Bureau activity in 1960 centered around initial efforts toward raising funds for a copy of a famous statue of Sir Francis Drake, to be located on Drake's Bay County Park on famed Pt. Reyes Peninsula in Western Marin.

The aims of the project are to increase Drake identification with Marin, to provide a tourist magnet to increase visitor traffic, to gain worldwide publicity when the statue is erected in place and to more vividly recognize a famous historical event —the landing in Marin by the noted Elizabethan navigator.

Much appreciation is extended to the Drake Navigators Guild for its historical guidance and for underwriting the first $5,000 toward a goal of about $16,000. The statue would be a bronze copy of a famous one now standing in Plymouth, England.

A few extra hundreds of dollars have also been raised, but most of the effort was in committee planning for methods to raise the sum. Their meetings had been publicized with the phrase "Dollars for Drake." Information from England indicates the casting will take about 18 months from the time the order is placed.

SIGN PROGRAM

Along with the statue, the Bureau members declared there is a need for a good signing program to properly guide the increasing number of visitors to Marvelous Marin County. An artist's drawing for a sign-design was considered. This is one of the very important projects to be worked on, because the county's network of twisting city streets and hilly roads leading to parks and sites can be confusing.

The group hopes to erect a sign identifying Mission San Rafael Arcangel in downtown San Rafael during 1961.

Motel Operators Organize Unit

Marin's motel operators during 1960 were able to organize themselves to form the Marin Motel Association, with the aid of Chamber-Bureau services.

David Bellucci, operator of the Skylark Motel in Ignacio is the first president and Paul Thompson of San Rafael's Villa Rafael Motel is the vice president.

The local group formed as a chapter of the California Motel Assn. which also includes membership in the American Motel Hotels Assn. Marin members are now listed in national touring directories and receive regular publications about the business of serving visitors.

Their plans call for raising special advertising funds for various promotional purposes. Chief among the anticipated expenditures will probably be tastefully-designed billboards outside this county along the Redwood Highway (U. S. 101) and along U. S. 40 above the Golden Gate Bridge turn-off north of Vallejo. Later plans, if there is enough money, may be such signs south of San Francisco.

Color Brochure In Second Printing

Early in 1960 the second printing of 25,000 of the colorful and popular Marvelous Marin advertising folders took place.

The first printing of over 53,000 were distributed nationally in about 18 months. Several of the nation's air passenger carriers helped in the distribution. Many hundreds of others were sent to bus travel ticket offices, automobile associations in major cities and by petroleum companies.

The folder is the first in full color for Marin, including information about various communities, places to visit, things to see, parks and outstanding residential projects. It also includes mileages to Marin places from the Golden Gate Bridge and key industrial developments.

The first printing was financed jointly by businesses and the County of Marin. The second printing was paid for wholly by private enterprise.

Capital Investments In Marin Indicate Vigor Of Economy

New construction and capital investments continue to indicate the economic vigor and growth of San Rafael trading area—the heart of Marvelous Marin.

The aggregate dollar volume of construction during 1960 amounts to several millions, from small, new retail outlets to the large Fairchild Semiconductor plant which will be employing at least 1,000 by the end of 1961. A sizeable chunk of these millions, as has been true in the past, is housing.

This housing amount includes many custom-built homes (many with private swimming pools, because of the pleasant climate), tract developments such as those by Eichler or Anderson Development Co.

By far, the most fabulous land development is that konwn as Marin Bay, under construction by the Latipac-Perini Co. This is a project covering about 2,300 acres and including an 18-hole golf course and club house (now open), beautifully conceived home sites looking out upon the fairways, hills and San Francisco Bay. It will also include small craft boating facilities, marina home sites and a resort project including hotels and unusual shopping facilities, keyed to visitor-use. It is located in easternmost San Rafael on the historic McNear Ranch on San Pedro Peninsula.

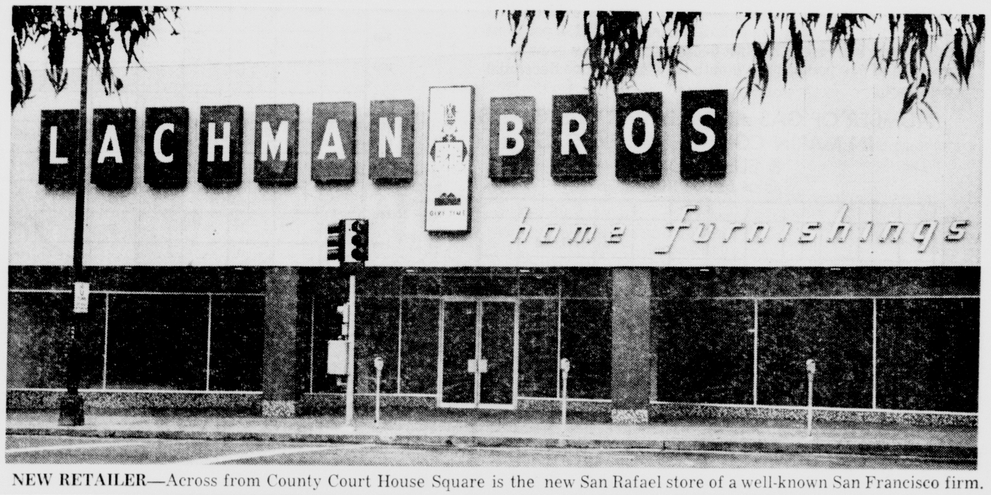

There are new manufacturing, wholesaling, warehousing and retail buildings, plus additional capital investments in already established, but expanding plants.

New schools, both private and public, continue to expand to fit the population growth of the area.

INDUSTRIAL PUSH

The Marin Industrial Development Foundation, cooperation with the county governments of Marin and Sonoma Counties and the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., were able to obtain a sizeable story in the November issue of the national Industrial Development Magazine. It told of the industrial-location advantage of the area, and is expected to produce many new inquiries from firms which are considering new plants in this part of the state. Additionally, a large number of reprints of the article have been made available for special distribution.

Those interested in making investments in Marin may secure helpful information by contacting the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, 801 B Street, or the Marin Industrial Development Foundation, 1005 A Street, both in San Rafael.

MORE PEOPLE—From the above graph it is evident that growth here is steady, and that Marin had a 71.4 per cent population increase in the last decade. The county grew at an average of 510 persons per month between the two decennial censuses.

Boat Registrations Continue To Rise

Over 3,000 small boats now use Marin's waterways, and of this amount one-third call San Rafael home port.

These craft vary from large power cabin cruisers to small outboards, and some sailboats. Several new facilities have been added recently, including launching ramps and berthing spaces. A large share of the San Rafael Canal shoreline is devoted to businesses serving the small boat owner. More such facilities are being planned.

Retail Business Continues To Climb

MILTON SCHWARTZ, Retail Merchants committee chairman, operates the very fine Casa Marin furniture store in San Rafael and has been active in community affairs for several years. He was a member of the 1960 board of directors. Last year he was also president of the San Rafael Athletic Assn. His guidance sparked the business district's first area-wide advertising campaign.

San Rafael and Marin County retailers chalked up more gains for 1960, despite the fall-off in construction locally and the general leveling off nationally.

The gains were not as spectacular as some past years, it is true, yet the trend was upward. Although the final figures from the California State Board of Equalization showing the total amount of taxable transactions for the year will not be out until Spring, projections show an estimated total for 1960 of around $160,000,000. San Rafael's share of this is about $75,000,000.

CREDIT TO SALES EVENTS

As usual, San Rafael's retailers were very active keeping the county seat the "heart of Marin's economic activity."

The two RED TAG DAYS and the two DOLLAR DAYS again helped stimulate buying. The former are for "special prices" for seasonal merchandise, and the latter are popular clearance days. So popular have these events become over the years, that many shoppers will telephone the Chamber office, asking in advance when these "days" will come.

Dollar Days, a Friday and Saturday event, takes place about the first of February and August each year. Red Tag Days, a Thursday, Friday and Saturday event, takes place in the Spring and near the first of October.

In 1960, more organization was placed behind the TWO BIG DAYS, the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving. Several stores made Christmas merchandise available at attractive prices for this two-day period to get the Christmas buying season off to a good start. Special ads were placed in the annual Gift Edition of the Independent-Journal newspaper. Even more success is anticipated for this event in 1961.

SPECIAL AD CAMPAIGN

Many of the participating stores in the new "SAN RAFAEL HAS EVERYTHING" advertising campaign are confident that such promotions have helped to keep the sales gains in their trading center.

The ads usually consist of a space 15 inches high and 5 columns wide, continually repeating the message that Marinites can buy anything they need in San Rafael because of the "big city" service: Financial institutions, medical-dental-legal offices, governmental services, OVER 3,100 PARKING SPACES, name brands, etc. The ads run about twice a month and tie in with a seasonal theme. The program began last summer.

BIG TRADING AREA CENTER

Although San Rafael serves the Marin County Peninsula as its best trading center, many customers from Sonoma, Napa, Solano and San Francisco Counties like to buy here. Thus to the some 147,000 people in Marin, must also be added those from outlying areas.

During 1960 new retail outlets came to San Rafael and many stores remodeled their store fronts and interiors to make shopping more convenient, pleasant and enjoyable. Several stores expanded their interior space as well, adding the latest features in lighting fixtures and display counters and cases.

System Warns Of Bad Checks

The system is designed to save money for the businessmen and to help the police apprehend persons such as bad check passers, shoplifters or short-change artists.

When the Chamber office receives notification that such undesirable persons are or may be "working the stores," the office immediately makes several telephone calls to key stores. Each, in turn, then telephones two more places of business. Tests have shown that, when properly working, all business will have received the message in about 30 minutes.

SOLICITATIONS

San Rafael has a "Green River Law" controlling house-to-house or door-to-door sellers, and therefore many such persons find it advantageous to register at the Chamber, which works closely with the local police forces.

Chamber Offers Special Services

Several special services to retailers and customers are available through the chamber of commerce as a result of work by the Retail Merchants Committee.

A retailing calendar for the year is sent annually to all businesses interested. This shows the special sales events, important dates and events, night openings, and committee meeting times.

Also available during 1960 was a special 48-page trade promotion and planning calendar, with notation space for every day. It also listed the special days, weeks and months of the year.

BETTER BUSINESS BUREAU

By special arrangements the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce has made with the San Francisco Better Business Bureau, some BBB services are available at this "field office." These are standard inquiry and complaint blanks and a series of the BBB special booklets on various subjects important to buyers. The latter are available at 10 cents each.

COUPON BATTLE

Early in 1960, many firms were sent coupons that appeared to have been sent by a telephone company, and which looked like statements for a listing in a directory. The Chamber and the SFBBB jointly issued a statement warning business men not to be "taken in" by this scheme. The case came to the attention of the District Attorney, and he and the BBB discussed the mass mailing plan with the men involved. Any further mailings were stopped and checks were returned to those who mistook the coupon for a legitimate telephone directory ad.

Carl Rosenthal, George Lawrence, Kenneth Samuelson, Peter Cazassa and Albert Schmitz.

Every retailing Chamber member is considered a member, and the above have attended most of the regular monthly meetings to discuss retail problems.

FOOD AND LODGING

1960 saw the second printing and revised edition of the useful Food and Lodging Guide, which included several additional motels and restaurants; 5,000 were made.

Printed in verdant green and redwood brown, it lists 30 places to eat and 16 places to sleep.

Marin's Buying Power Is High

According to the 1960 Sales Management Magazine's Survey of Buying Power, the effective buying income (EBI) for Marin County and three cities is interpreted below with comparisons to California and the U.S. It should be noted that the per capita income gap between Marin and the U.S. has increased slightly in the past year.

Legislative Unit Analyzed Measures

Analysis of the 15 State Propositions and their impact on the San Rafael community, topped the work of the Legislative Affairs committee for 1960. These were voted upon at the Nov. 8 general election.

Additional studies were made on various national legislative matters, most of them having some kind of impact on the local economy.

Members of the committee attended meetings both in and outside the county to learn about different legislative matters. One of these was the Oct. 7 special meeting of the California State Chamber of Commerce in Santa Rosa.

The studies of the 15 propositions covered a period of slightly over two months and several meetings. Each of the 12 members specialized in studying one or two of the propositions, while the chairman covered all subjects. The several two-hour meetings consisted of pro and con discussions, concluding with recommendations to the board of directors.

A "yes" vote recommended was made in behalf of the proposed county farm bond issue, which did not pass.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS

Working closely with the information regularly sent out by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, the committeemen also specialize in selected fields of national legislation. From time to time recommendations are made asking the board of directors to ask our Congressmen and Senators to vote a certain way on some bills.

HARRY GLASSMAN, Legislative Affairs committee chairman, is an attorney with the firm of Glassman and Rose and has been a chamber member for several years. The big job in 1961 was the testy job of analyzing the 15 propositions on the State Ballot last November. In addition to studying local, state or Federal bills having local impact, this committee will continue to search for ways to modernize the City Charter or to consider becoming a California "general law" city; plans to arrange conferences with legislators.

Study Begun On Charter Inequities

Initial explorations into certain inequities of San Rafael City Charter Ordinance No. 440, for business licenses, was begun in December, 1960, by the Legislative Affairs committee.

The ordinance, passed in 1948, was established for the "purpose of raising municipal revenue," rather than to be just regulatory. Some firms pay a flat rate and some pay on average monthly gross receipts. The changes in the economic picture which have taken place since then may be another good reason for reevaluation at this time.

During the past few years the Chamber has received a sufficient number of complaints to cause the board of directors to ask for this study.

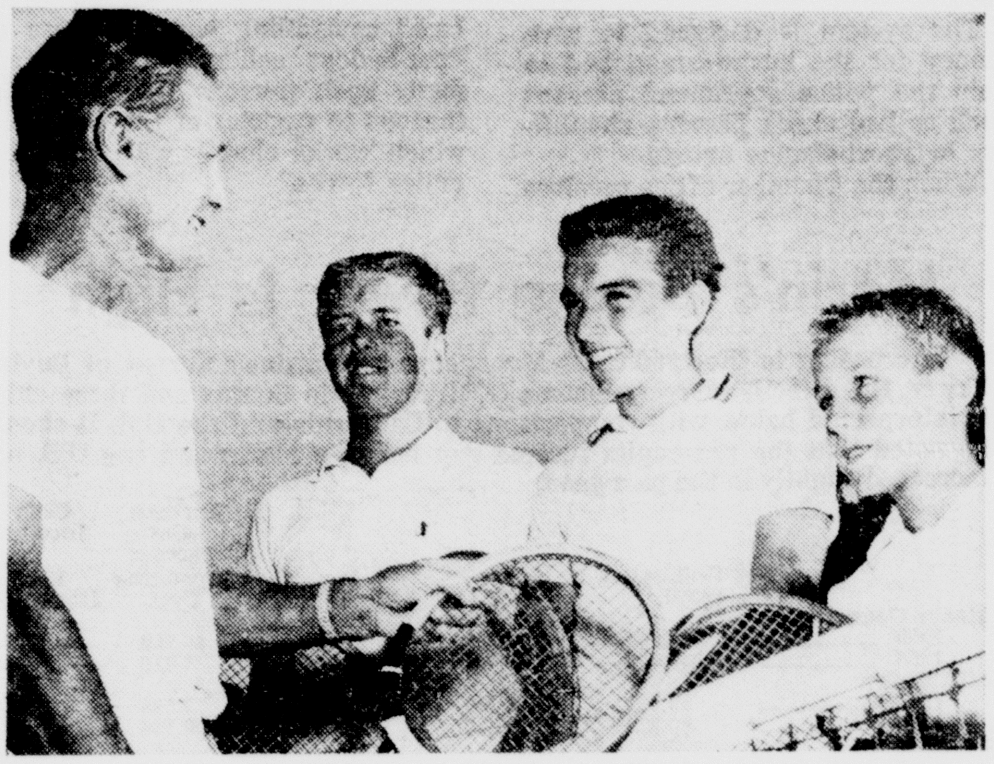

The first meeting was attended by Dan Anderson, the City Manager and Miss Angela Soldavini, the City Tax Collector, who provided some heplful information and opinions about the present oridance.

The committee will study similar ordinances from other cities and a suggested model ordinance from the League of California Cities.

DAVID STEPHENS, Transportation committee chairman, is general manager of the large Marin firm, McPhail's, Inc. He headed a new committee charged with improvement of freight rates, transportation improvements, the development of a county airport and studies of the operations of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District and the Golden Gate Authority.

Airport Is Greatest Need

Working closely with the similar efforts of the Marin Industrial Development Foundation, committee members met during the year with a group of San Franciscans also seeking an auxiliary airport to work with the famed San Francisco International Airport.

The advent of the jet planes and their expanding maintenance and service facilities seems to be creating a need for an airport for small private planes and corporate airplanes. Additionally, this anticipated airport must be within about the same freeway distance from the heart of the financial district in San Francisco.

Under consideration are sites to the north and south of Pt. San Quentin. Such a location would execllently serve the large industrial section of Richmond on the other side of the Richmond-San Rafael toll bridge.

ONLY LANDING STRIP

With the loss of the landing strip in East San Rafael, the County Board of Supervisors, moved to provide the county with at least some kind of airport, and did help with some improvements of the small Novato strip.

Freight Rates Are Reduced

Chief among the accomplishments this year was the reduction of freight rates for lumber and aggregates, in cooperation with the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Co.

Construction, probably the largest single segment of Marin's business activity, benefited in a lowering of rates for the shipment of aggregates into the county from $1 a ton to 80 cents per ton. This move is expected to help keep costs for construction of homes, commercial and industrial at a satisfactory level for the coming few years in order that Marin's various contractors can compete favorably, and to carry on a good level of construction activity.

Additionally, lumber shipments into the area from northern tree farms and mills was lowered from 62 to 45 cents per hundred pounds. Additional reductions seem possible because the results of these new rates are proving successful.

OTHER FIELDS

The anticipated huge Bay Area bond issue which was to have been on the November ballot, was cancelled late in the year because of necessary additional studies required of the Bay Area Transit District. This is the group considering the development of a network of high-speed cars to move people around the Bay Area, and to try to remove some of the freeway useage.

The committee's task is to study such proposals as the District may make to see that Marin is being favorably considered.

The past directors of the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, have, of course, heartily endorsed the idea of Rapid Transit lines into Marin.

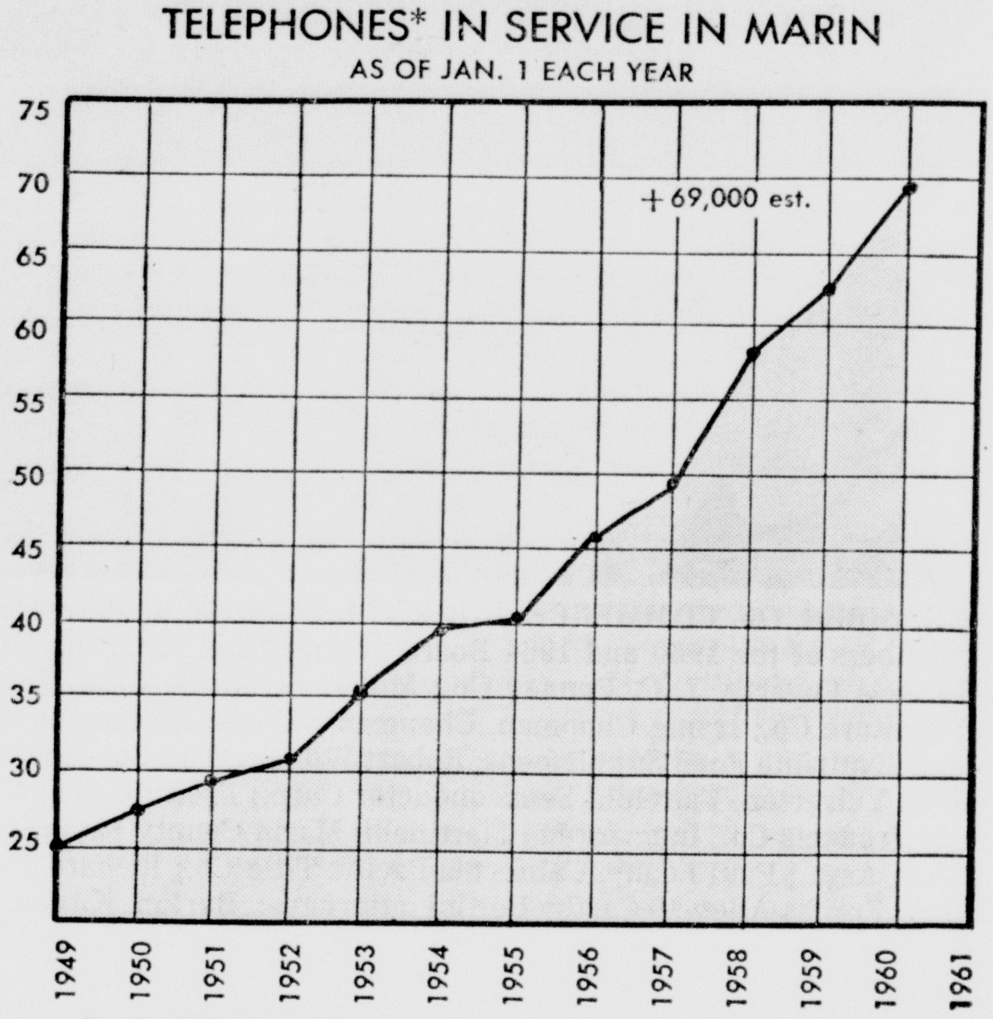

The Chamber has also approved the principle of the Golden Gate Authority, the aim of which is to operate the basic transportation facilities of the entire Bay Area under one group. This would include such facilities as toll bridges, rail, air and bus depot locations and port facilities.

Many business leaders feel that such an Authority will evenutally have to be set up, but some time will be required to create an active understanding of the need, which is aimed at building improved facilities to operate more economically.

FEDERAL HEARING — An important event took place at the College of Marin last April 14 which may have an important bearing on the future of the visitor-recreation business in the county, for which segment of future business the Chamber has been working. This was the U. S. Government public hearing concerning the possible Pt. Reyes National Seashore recreation area. While the Chamber has taken no stand on the locally controversial issue, several of its representatives attended the hearing. The picture shows part the crowded room; at the table are Congressman Clement Miller and other members of the U. S. House of Representatives.

ROBERT NELSON, Parks & Recreation committee chairman . . . Tall Bob is a representative in San Rafael for the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. His committee's interests include city beautification, parks and harbor development.

Welcome Sign Awaits Funds

A joint project with the San Anselmo Chamber of Commerce began last year when A. Von Rotz, its president, asked the San Rafael Chamber president Burton Kirchner whether a joint "Welcome to our city" sign could be attempted.

The project was assigned to the Parks and Recreation Committee, because a certain amount of landscaping or beautification would be involved.

It was decided by the joint committee that a high quality, electrified sign was desired. Local sign companies were asked to help, and the design submitted by Marin Neon Co. won out.

The City Council of San Rafael was interested. So were many service clubs who would participate financially, because they wanted a good sign and it would carry the service club's name and meeting time.

When it finally came time to ask for the City's for financial participation, it was learned the old City Charter forbids the Council from spending more than $1,000 annually on city advertising. This amount was already allotted to the San Rafael Chamber for its regular day to day operations promoting the City.

Boats Become Big Business

Pleasure boating is big business in San Rafael and is growing in importance, but the growth depends upon regular dredging of the San Rafael Channel.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers did the last dredging job about 1954, and now the silting of the channel is serious enough to cause many power cruisers and sail boats to become grounded in mud at many tide levels.

The Chamber's Parks and Recreation Committee attended many meetings and corresponded with its Washington representatives in an effort to have the channel dredged last year. The City of San Rafael sent City Manager Dan Anderson and Mayor John McInnis back to Washington to appear before committees toward seeking dredging funds. The project has the support of the Marine Exchange as well as other groups in the Bay Area. Yet, Federal Public Works funds could not be secured at the time.

Efforts will continue until the project is accomplished.

Folder Planned For Boating Business

Initial meetings have been held with members of San Rafael's and Marin's firms in the boating business for the development of a first specialized folder toward increasing this segment of business.

It is anticipated that the various dealers, repair shops, boat builders, harbors and the like will participate financially.

Marin, with its more than 200 miles of shoreline and several boating facilities, is probably the Bay Area's "Pleasure Boating Center" right now, but as this type of recreation business grows, boating interests here will need to advertise more. At present there are about 3,000 such small craft registered in Marin, and nearly half of the owners do not live in the county.

PARKS AND RECREATION COMMITTEE
